Kissinger Says Progress Made In Vietnam Talks

SAIGON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger left Saigon for Washington today after the most intensive peace talks of the Indochina war, and the U.S. Embassy said progress had been made toward a settlement. But it indicated that the U.S. and South Vietnamese government still differ on some points.

"We have made progress," said an embassy statement. "Talks will continue between us and the government of Vietnam. It is not in the interest of negotiations to be more specific at this time."

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese government was reported preparing for the eventuality of a cease-fire.

President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser flew home to report to Nixon after six meetings with President Nguyen Van Thieu. Asked at the airport if his visit had been productive, Kissinger replied, "It always is when I'm here."

Although Newsweek and Time magazines reported that the United States and North Vietnam have agreed to a settlement that would include a cease-fire, there was no confirmation from either U.S. or South Vietnamese officials in Saigon.

South Vietnamese sources said, however, that Thieu had issued orders that junior military officers — lieutenants and captains — should prepare to take over the functions of civilian village chiefs in the event of a cease-fire.

This was intended to insure that the Saigon government had a firm hold on the population and the government machinery should a settlement come, the sources said.

For the past two months, government workers have been painting South Vietnamese flags on the doors, walls and gates of homes and other buildings all over the country. The flags, which first began appearing more than a year ago, have often been described as a show allegiance in the event of a cease-fire.

Informants said that during the past two weeks, government troops have captured at least two caches of Viet Cong flags during operations near Saigon and on the northern coast.

The Thieu government has been preparing contingency plans for a cease-fire for several months, aimed at strengthening and maintaining security and control over the local population.

The question of control would be a major issue in the event of a standstill cease-fire, and both sides would try to seize and hold as much territory and population as they could before a deadline, officials believe.

Senior field commanders were told last week that their immediate mission was to open up key highways closed by fighting and to drive enemy forces from hamlets and villages.

179,000 Bales Are Ginned

HAYTI — Trading remained rather slow on Missouri cotton markets last week. Demand weakened and prices were slightly lower, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Hayti classing office.

Most producers were hesitant to sell uncommitted cotton at present market prices. A small amount of current ginnings were sold at prices ranging from 300 - 400 points over CCC loan rates.

Gins paid farmers an average of $45 per ton for cottonseed.

The cotton harvest resumed in a few areas the latter part of the week. Rains had stopped picking during the week. Gins were able to alleviate some of their backlog during the lull. Good to excellent yields were reported in most areas.

The Agricultural Marketing Service's Hayti classing office had classed a season total of 179,000 samples for farmers through Friday. Grades were lower and staple length was shorter on the samples classed last week as compared to the week before

Strict Low Middling was still the predominant grade accounting for 47 per cent last week and 56 per cent a week earlier. The percentage of samples grading Low Middling increased from 11 per cent to 27 per cent last week.

Seventy- five per cent of the samples stapled 1 1/16 inches last week against 55 per cent a week earlier. Twenty- five percent had 1 3/32 inches staples and 45 per cent were in this category in the previous week.

Mike readings were about unchanged from a week ago with 96 per cent in the 3.5 to 4.9 range. Breaking strength on the samples tested for the week ending Oct. 16 averaged 82,000 pounds per square inch.

CTA Charges 'Gross Misrepresentations'

PORTAGEVILLE— The salary committee of the Community Teachers Association of New Madrid R— 1 District today charged that a progress report concerning teacher salaries and instructional expenses, which was released last week by Superintendent of Schools Dr. George Reuter Jr., contained several "gross misrepresentations."

The report covered the 1970- 71 and 1971- 72 school years.

Jim Mauk of Portageville, chairman of the Community Teachers Association salary committee, issued the following release today to the press:

"The report stated that over a year ago teachers salaries were increased by $442,143. This increase was due, in large part, to the operation of two new facilities and additional administrators in the latter period that employed approximately 20 additional personnel.

"This accounted for one half of the increase! The other half was much less than the school district's share of $70 million appropriated by the state primarily for upgrading teacher salaries.

"The report failed to mention that the state appropriated an additional $35 million for the 1972- 73 school year where the present salary dispute has its basis. The report also failed to mention that while decreasing support to the teachers' fund, the balance at the end of the 1971- 72 school year was $533,000 and will, unless the pay scale is altered, exceed $600,000 at the end of this school year.

"The report also compared expenses for instructional material. While it is true that new duplicating machines, copy machines, typewriters, calculators and furniture adorn administrative offices, the teachers' concern is for material made available to student use.

"While the teachers do not have all the answers, we do have many questions that the next R— 1 report may answer.

"1. Since the disagreement arose over salaries for 1972- 73, why are the rates for last year and the year before compared in the report?

"2. Since we are publishing salaries, why don't we publish the salaries of administrators, especially those drawing in excess of $12,500 per year?

"3. Since the administrators claim they received no raise for the last two years, can we assume they have been drawing these fabulous salaries for at least two full years?

"4. Was a $300 per year increase in base salary for teachers really out of line considering that the additional state funding was made available?

"5. What law of nature is it that says administrators are underpaid at $17,000 and teachers are overpaid at $6,400?

"6. How many administrators drawing in excess of $10,000 per year have been added since the "cost- saving" reorganization?

"7. Why were teachers told in April 1972 that if the state, appropriates funds for for the Foundation Program, that raises in salary would be made and, in fact, they were not?

"8. Is the purpose for accumulating hugh balances in the building fund (at the expense of the teachers' fund) to build a comprehensive high school? Do the patrons of the R— 1 district have no right to vote on such plans if it means closing the present high schools? If it were built by bonds, then would they have the right to vote their approval?

"If the administration chooses to answer these questions, we feel the public will be much better informed on the operation of the schools."

Sikeston Man Beaten And Robbed

Nixon Has Turned Back Clock, Morsell Charges

By RON PORTER

Black Americans must work harder to achieve equality in the years ahead because of the Nixon administration's lack of effort in the field of civil rights and short comings in the fields of education and job opportunities, according to Dr. John Morsell of New York City.

Morsell is assistant executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He spoke to about 200 persons at the Freedom Fund Banquet of the NAACP state convention Saturday night at Ramada Inn.

Calling the Nixon administration "evil in its complete form," he attacked President Richard M. Nixon for a "calculated, planned, systematic and partly successful effort to turn back the clock," cut back programs and push civil rights out of the minds of the American people.

The Nixon administration has argued against school desegregation, tried to weaken the Voting Rights Act of 1965 and appointed conservatives to the Supreme Court in an attempt to block civil rights advances, Morsell charged.

John A. Morsell

Another enemy of the black freedom movement is complacency, he said. It's mostly found in whites, but also among blacks who say "look at everything that has happened." he charged.

But everything was achieved at a price of hard work, anguish and lives,

Monday, October 23 — Veteran's Day

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Some people look so far ahead that they almost forget the present.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Today is Veterans Day — or as the British term it, Remembrance Day. Fifty-four years ago the Armistice ending the first great war was signed at a clearing in the forest of Compiegne, near Paris.

It would be easy to dwell on the hate and fear and greed unleashed in World War I. More than 37 million troops from the 30 warring nations were lost. But it were better to remember instead the forces of justice and freedom which, though at great cost, prevailed.

Historians say the terms of the Armistice and the Treaty of Versailles, signed seven months later, were ill-conceived. Like faults in the earth's political crust, it is said they led to the second global war 22 years later. Be that as it may, the world has progressed politically in the past half century. The limitations of royalty and imperialism have been broken through. The impulse of nationalism has seen many peoples win statehood.

Still, as we know, the earth's political crust is not free of tensions. The Mideast, Nigeria, Czechoslovakia, Vietnam are only the more visible trouble areas.

We should take heart when these war tremors reach us, however, if we remember the free world's victories in recent tests.

The development of nuclear weapons and missile delivery systems has raised global war from deplorable to unthinkable. Thus the courage we have shown in allout conflict must today be transformed into resolute and wise search for peace without warfare. This will not be easy. Nonetheless, we are already five years beyond the span that separated the first two world wars. The cold war between the world's major powers has to a significant degree subsided. If we are vigilant to resolve tensions the third unimaginable conflict can be avoided.

Though the cause of peace must be carried on from generation to generation, how grateful we can be for the example of those enlisted in times past.

LEGISLATORS SHOULD BE COMMENDED

Our state legislature in special session last week approved over $11 million in emergency appropriations and iit appears to us that is sufficient for the present.

Commendably, the members of the Legislature cut almost in half the appropriations requests made by Governor Hearnes.

They left in what most people consider of immediate urgency. They left out the items that can just as well wait until the regular session, which is only three months away.

Most Legislators and most Missourians agreed that many of the appropriations requested were not emergencies at all. The Legislators acted on that premise, and should be commended for it.

And, incidentally, Missourians should remember that it was a Democratic controlled Legislature that made this possible, and that to the Democratic party of Missouri and its members goes the chief credit, even though many Republicans did vote for the reduction.

THE COST OF PERMISSIVENESS

From here to Brooklyn, New York, is a "fur piece" even as the crow flies, to use the vernacular. But the impact of a court case filed in Brooklyn hits right close to home.

A businessman in Brooklyn was looted and burned out during the recent riots in the wake of Martin Luther King's assassination. And he has sued the city of New York for $250,000, claiming negligence. The storeowner contends that the police were under official orders to be permissive about the whole affair, and that no responsible effort was made to protect his property and place of business. This will be a noteworthy case, and the pocketbooks of every American citizen right across the country from Brooklyn to here are going to be affected by the decision.

Why? First off, the cop on the beat in any neighborhood is a good witness. He's a family man with children, taxes, and neighbors. And he's disciplined to follow orders. Even an idiot knows that in city after city across this land, the local police were under very heavy wraps during the so-called "disorders." And those cops are just not going to "cop any pleas" when it comes time to talk about the affair in court. If there was negligence, even negligence ordained from on high, in rendering the protection that the businessman has been paying taxes to finance, the cop on the witness stand is going to say so.

Suppose this Brooklyn businessman wins his suit against the City of New York. Well, there are another two or three hundred merchants who suffered similar or equal loss, for similar and equal reason. They'll be entering their suits.

And the insurance companies which wrote policies for fire, plate glass, malicious damage and so forth—they're watching too. What a bundle they could recover if a precedent case stands up.

If the politicians can be found negligent, thenthe taxpayers are going to have to pay some fantastic reparations. And because no city has the kind of money involved, it will have to find other sources of income to underwrite its normal operations while it pays the judgements. That means State and Federal funds to replace monies used to pay merchants and insurance companies who sue.

And if the court finds against the merchant? Watch your own insurance rates soar. In some areas they've already risen 300 percent. In other areas, homeowners and merchants can't even get insurance. Whatever the courts decide will cost you money. Permissiveness anywhere is expensive everywhere.

MAN'S WAY IS BETTER

Much of the public thinks of a forest as something that can be preserved forever. It has been difficult for the public to believe that harvesting trees intelligently is not only good business for a timber company but is necessary for the health of forest lands, and for the perpetuation of these lands as a source of recreation and wildlife refuge. If man does not harvest the forests, nature does-- and in the most ruthless manner.

The timberlands manager of a large forest products company, addressing a group of people in a small community on the Oregon Coast, used that particular region as an illustration of how nature "manages" the forests. He said on the Pacific Coast of Oregon, "The Nestucca fire in 1848 burned 300,000 acres. In 1849 some 800,000 acres between the Siuslaw and Siletz rivers went up in smoke. In 1853, the Yaquina fire started near Corvallis and burned 480,000 acres. At least 25 billion board feet of timber-- equal to what we harvest in Oregon over a period of three years today-- was estimated to have burned in that fire. In 1868 the Coos Bay fire destroyed 300,000 acres of choice timberland."

The timber executive observed that nature has "clearcut" forests with fire for century after century. Such was nature's way of removing the old and the diseased timber and replacing it with new growth. Man does it more intelligently. These are some facts of history that more people of today must learn.

DEATH OF A BASE

Peter Arnett, an Associated Press correspondent, recently visited Cam Ranh Bay and found the once mighty bastion of U.S power almost deserted. A few soldiers of South Vietnam roamed the beaches but that was virtually all the life he found there. The giant port and air facility along with the army depot had been turned over to the South Vietnamese last June.

Cam Ranh Bay, in a way, is a monument to failure of U.S. policy. The port and base, which amounted to a U.S. Singapore of the Pacific, was conceived and launched in 1965. It became a $250 million project that was painstakingly built by 40,000 men. It is 15 miles long and its facilities were vast. It accommodated heavy shipping tonnage. Cam Ranh Bay was sort of the eye of the Indochina storm through which the U.S. war effort was channeled.

When the men responsible for winning the war conceived the base, they did it to facilitate their mission of winning the struggle against the forces of communism. The people of the U.S. will remember the almost weekly promises of victory that emanated from the highest councils in our national government. The generals and the admirals were cut short, however. The war was run by politicians and the politicians were left holding the bag. They refused to win the war but they dared not lose. The glorious promises of the 1960s faded and eventually were replaced by despair and the cynicism of division at home. If we were to salvage any honor at all, it would have to be done through negotiation.

Before Cam Ranh Bay suffered its inglorious death, the critics of our war policy made an issue of this great base. They charged that the generals and admirals wanted it permanently. These same critics are beginning to turn their attention on Guantanamo in Cuba. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Speaking For Nixon: MacGregor Flatly Predicts Most Labor Will Abandon Democratic Party For First Time

WASHINGTON — In this campaign's making of a President, one of the strangest developments in 40 years has been the action and counteraction of the nation's powerful labor leaders. For the first time in decades there appears to be no consensus inside labor on a Presidential candidate. Yet the labor vote, which I do believe is a truism, will make or break the candidates.

Having asked George McGovern and Larry O'Brien where this blue and white collar vote will go, I put the same question to Clark MacGregor, President Nixon's national campaign director, asking him to speak for himself and President Nixon.

Here in his own works MacGregor claims the vote will swing to the President, overwhelmingly for the first time in Richard Nixon's career:

By Clark MacGregor,
Campaign Director Committee
for the
Re-election of the President

If the nation's pundits had to stand or fall this year on their predictions of the attitudes of America's working men and women toward political candidates, their reputations would suffer dearly. For the nation's blue collar families have so far this year steadfastly refused to fall into the neat little squares prepared for them by politicians, pundits and pollsters.

Earlier in the year, when Sen. George McGovern's well-organized band of ideologues was taking advantage of a crowded field and winning primaries for him, professional observers thought they detected a groundswell of support for McGovern in blue collar precincts. This apparent support, added to McGovern's silk- stocking backing, would supposedly make the Senator a strong contender for the Presidency.

Now, when the public opinion polls show Sen. Mcgovern trailing President Nixon among voters at virtually every economic level, the prognosticators are asking what went wrong. The answer is that the experts simply forgot that blue collar workers and white collar workers, those who work with their hands and those who work in the professions, plumbers , carpenters, doctors and lawyers, share the same basic goals for their country: internal and international peace with prosperity and progress for themselves and their families.

Richard Nixon has helped provide these things. A great many Americans are afraid that the policies advocated by George McGovern would destroy them. Thus the Gallup Poll released on Sept. 10 showed that manual workers support the President by a margin of 64 per cent to 28 per cent with 8 per cent undecided. Members of labor unions duplicate this support within the polls' margin of error with the same poll showing rank- and- file labor support for the President at 61 per cent to 30 per cent for Sen. McGovern and 9 per cent undecided. This support reflects a dramatic shift of sentiment toward the President this year, compared with the election of 1968.

The shift is also clear among many leaders of organized labor---leaders who, for decades, have indentified organized labor's interest with Democratic candidates and have worked for their election. This year is different. Most significant, perhaps, was the decision of the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO to remain neutral -- the first time in its history that it has refused to endorse the Democratic Presidential candidate. George Meany and the other labor leaders on the Council understand the threat which George McGovern represents to American workers and to American society in general Their decision, in effect, is giving greater leeway than ever before for individual rank- and-file members to conclude on their own which candidate is best -- and Dr. Gallup has told us what they are concluding.

But large segments of organized labor are not merely remaining neutral. The Executive Board of America's largest independent union, the 2 million-member teamsters, has endorsed President Nixon. The President had the Teamsters' support in 1968, but many other endorsements represent first-time support for a Republican candidate for President. In total, as of the end of September, the executive boards of three national unions representing more than 2 million workers had endorsed the President, and he had received personal endorsements from the heads of nine national unions representing more than 1 ½ million workers. Less important than the numbers themselves in the fact that there has been such a massive move on the part of organized labor, not just away from George McGovern, but actually to President Nixon.

I think the reasons for this shift, like the reasons underlying the President's massive support among all Americans, are clear.

First, the thrust of the President's policies has been to maximize the chances for peace through strength while simulataneously redirecting the nation's resources into domestic programs. The major results of these policies are a phasing out of the draft, dramatic improvements in the climate of global relationships, and a Federal budget which calls for more spending on domestic needs than on defense for the first time since World War II.

Second, the President has responded to the economic crises created by past executive and Congressional mismanagement through bold initiatives in national and international economic policy. The major results of these policies are: inflation cut in half, more than 2.6 million new jobs in the last year, housing starts at the rate of 2 1/3 million per year (65 per cent more than than the average of the eight years preceding the Nixon administration), tremendous increases in spending on social programs and-- most significant of all -- an increase in real take-home wages which has given the average worker the equivalent of almost two weeks extra pay per year since the President entered the White House.

I am convinced that when the average worker looks at his children today, he believes there is much less chance that they will be called upon to serve in a war than there was before Richard Nixon became President. I am convinced that when the average worker considers his economic well-being, he believes that he is better off than he was years years ago.

I am equally convinced that the tandem McGovern proposals of increased welfare spending (coupled with a substantial tax increase to pay for it) and alarming cuts in defense spending strike most Americans as dangerous to our economy and potentially disastrous for the future of peace.

Thus, the blue collar worker joins other Americans in overwhelming support for President Nixon. The polls which show better than 60 per cent of American blue collar workers backing the President reflect rejarkably similar figures for the people as a whole. And we may well conclude that the division of the American people into economic groups which supposedly vote in opposing blocs is today a false division.

As a result, many observers predict that if the Nov. 7 election were held now, President Nixon would carry all 50 states, losing only the District of Columbia. As an optimist, I am unwillingat this point to concede the nation's capital.

But we must remember that the same experts who see this virtually unanimous electoral vote for the President as of today were earlier predicting strong blue collar support for Sen. McGovern. We must also remember that the election will not be held today. I can assure you that I remember these things constantly.

Nevertheless, my assessment is that President Nixon will occupy the White House until January 1977. And a large part of the reason is the bountiful support he is winning from America's working families.

NEW YORK (AP) — If the Lord whispered in your secret heart that you had but one month to live and let you pick that month, which would you choose? I'd say October.

The birds love it, the beasts love it, and man himself then stands upon the summit of the year.

October is all the other seasons wrapped into a 31-day grab-bag package, tied with a rainbow ribbon. It is the period when Mother Nature, the great dramatist, brings her traveling road show to a climax.

This is the month that, like a cider press, squeezes out the best juices of all the other months—the promise of spring, the sultry days of summer, the afterglow of autumn, the premonitory chill of winter. Everything that walks the earth feels an amber thrill, a tremendous bubbling vitality that sings in the pulse.

Now is the glory of the universe manifest, and in the mighty pagent of the hills each patch of woods elects its own tree beauty queen. You like the dogwood? We don't quarrel. I'll take the maple. that yellow torch!

It is as if everyone suddenly had been given magic color glasses. The stars bend nearer. And that big blob of moon—a child feels it is so close he could reach up with a knife and spread it on his bread like butter.

The stag stamps on the hilltop and lifts an amorous bugle to the night.

The squirrel, bright-eyed and bushy-tailed, becomes an annual miser. The bear invests his excess profits in fat, planning to live off this stored capital until he emerges from his hibernation next spring, cross and bankrupt.

The wind at night now had become a violin, playing a love song for the young, a last tune of youth for the old. Do you stay awake to hear it? You'd better! He only plays a little while, this wandering fiddler in the dark.

October wears a crown and makes every man a king. It bears the harvest superiority of the rounded apple over the petaled flower, the advantage fruition and achievement have over pale promises. April is the fledgling politician of the year, saying, "Stock with me, and we'll go places." October is the mature statesman holding out the golden reward.

Everyone knows when October is here. The air feels like a raise in salary.

The boss smileth, the workman giveth a full dayth's—I mean day's—toil and cometh home at evenfall to a cheerful wife. She forgetteth to find fault.

Yes, it's a grand time—too late for hay fever, too early for pneumonia. It's a flood in the blood, a high tide measured by the turning sun.

There's no tax on it, so spend it while you have it. No October lasts forever, and there is no real guarantee it will ever come again.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- The most important Republican outside the Nixon administration, Governor Nelson Rockefeller, is pumping money and manpower into a bitter campaign to defeat a man he helped put in the House of Representatives 10 years ago.

The object of the New York governor's vendetta os Ogden Reid, whose Republican forebears go back to Abraham Lincoln's day. Indeed, his grandfather was a vice presidential candidate for the Grand Old Party. But eight months ago, Reid turned Democrat.

For him, the last straw had been President Nixon's sabotage of a $2 billion (B) day care bill that Reid had spent years preparing and pushing. His parting blast left Republicans stunned and vengeful.

Out for retribution, Rockefeller has freed two of his top young operatives from the state payroll and has assigned them to the anti- Reid campaign. They are William McDevitt, Rockefeller's own assistant, and Martin Kelly, who has served Rockefeller in the past on an important task force.

Even more significantly, Rockefeller has encouraged his old friend and political ally, Carl Spad, to labor against their one- time colleague. The sharp, fast talking Spad has quietly moved into a guest house at Rockefeller's feudal castle at Pocantico Hills where the two men are so close they can conspire against Reid over their bedroom window sills.

Rockefeller has already thrown open the 3,000- acre Pocantico estate for a thousand- dollar- a- couple party that raised $38,000 for the anti— Reid forces. Additional contributions from other Rockefeller loyalists have made the campaign of the best- financed in the land.

The governor has ponied up $6,000. His brother, Laurence, the philanthropist Rockefeller, has contributed $1,000. Rockefeller's heir apparent, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, has thrown in another $1,000. Similar donations have poured in from lesser Rockefeller machine assemblymen, state senators, county officials and party fat cats, all the the expense of the maverick Reid.

Almost as angry as Rockefeller is well- to- do contractor, J. Herbert Grimsey, who stepped aside 10 years ago to let Reid have the House GOP nomination. Now Grimsey has given $1,000 and loaned $39,500 to help unseat Reid.

--MAD "MA BELL"--

The congressman's battle for telephone users against New York telephone company's $361 million increase has also earned him the enmity of company officials. Ma Bell's New York president, W.M. Ellinghaus, and vice president William Sharwell, have each kicked in $500 to defeat him.

Likewise, Reid's successful effort to roll back a gigantic rent increase has brought in a flood of contributions against him from the New York real estate lobby.

Now, Rockefeller and the other anti— Reid forces have been able to enlist the top Republican of them all to help teach the renegade a lesson. President Nixon scheduled one of his rare campaign tours in Westchester county.

House GOP leader Gerald Ford, R— Mich., and conservative Sen. James Buckley, N.Y., have already made campaign utterances against Reid.

Running against Reid is Westchester County's District Attorney Carl Vergari. For a smalltown D.A., he has suddenly found himself with a surprising number of friends in high places.

--WASHINGTON WHIRL--

Bad Job-- Illegal employment agencies throughout the United States have been bilking job hunters by advertising jobs on the Alaskan pipeline. Several workers have turned up in Alaska after paying fees for jobs that don't exist on a pipeline that doesn't exist. Senator Ted Stevens, R— Alaska, has asked the Justice Department to investigate.

Lady from Idaho-- Mrs. James McClure, wife of the Idaho congressman, throws an unpublicized birthday party each year for mentally handicapped children from the Nampa State School. This year's party was October 5th.

Fake Poll-- Young Republicans have been mailing out a "Preference Poll," asking addressees whom they favor for president. The fakery is a bit obvious; included with it is a fund solicitation for the Nixon- Agnew ticket.

Pentagon Plums-- The Pentagon loudly proclaims the benefits of free enterprise biddong on its billions in defense contracts. But for the last six years, a majority of these plums have been awarded on a noncompetitive, sole source basis. In fact, last year, only 10 per cent of the Pentagon's $36 billion (B) shopping list was spent for defense contracts that were openly advertised to the business community.

U.S. -China Side Against Russia In UN Arms Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The annual U.N. arms debate opens today with about two thirds of the nations in favor of the world disarmament conference proposed by the Soviet Union but with the United States and China opposed.

Mexico, the Soviet Union and the United States were the first speakers. The debate in the General Assembly's main political committee is scheduled to last through Nov. 23, but the subject is so complicated some believe it might continue into December.

Both France and China in the past have resisted all efforts to involve them in the 10-year-old, 25-nation Geneva disarment committee.

Now France has agreed to participate in a preparatory committee for the world conference that the Soviet Union proposed a year ago. Its Aug. 25 reply in a U.N. poll on the subject suggested the committee consist of the 15 Security Council members, including the Big Five.

Though no reply from China has been published, Deputy foriegn Minister Chiao Kuanhua said in general debate Oct. 3 that a world disarmanet conference would be an "emptytalk club" and "it is better not to hold it."

However, some diplomats remained hopeful that China could be induced to join a preparatory committee for the conference. Others were doubtful.

The United States also is against setting up a preparatory committee. Its Aug. 30 reply in the poll said any action to arrange a world disarmament conference would raise false hopes and lead to frustration.

Bond, Phelps At Sikeston Armory Barbecue Saturday

Republican candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, State Auditor Kit Bond of Mexico and Rep. Bill Phelps of Kansas City, attended a Bootheel barbecue Saturday night at the Sikeston Armory. Approximately 900 supporters were on hand for the meal and speeches following.

Bond spoke about corruption in Missouri's state government. He cited examples where the Democratic administration has padded the payrolls with political "cronies."

In one instance, the state office building in Kansas City showed a payroll of more than $200,000 when an identical office building listed its payroll at slightly under $75,000. In an investigation by Attorney General John Danforth, it was found that some state employes held other jobs and did no work in the state office building.

The gubernatorial candidate attacked the "lug" system in state government where all employes must make campaign contributions to the party that hired them or lose their jobs.

Bond described the St. Louis Globe- Democrat's recent state poll as "very encouraging." According to the polls, Bond is running about three percentage points ahead of Democrat Edward Dowd.

Phelps stressed the need for a cooperative, full- time lieutenant governor for the next four years. He pledged his full- time effort to serving as lieutenant governor and promised to help put an end to political "crony-ism."

Former Sikeston Mayor Kendall Sikes introduced Alfred E. Sikes, his son who is Bond's campaign manager and was master of ceremonies.

The latter commented on the tremendous new enthusiasm that is being generated this year against the predominant one- party system in Missouri.

Before the barbecue, Bond met at Scott County Republican Headquarters, 117 E. Malone Ave., with area campaign coordinators and youth workers for his campaign.

Senior Citizens For Dowd Established

Other members of the "Senior Citizens for Dowd" steering committee include George Montgomery of Clinton, H. T. Seaton of Lexington, and Burney Fishback of Perry.

Wulff said Dowd advocates tax relief for the elderly and free transportation for the elderly on public transportation during non-peak hours.

Small-Garrett

WYATT — Miss Gloria Jean Garrett and Eric Theodore Small were united in marriage at 3 p.m. on Sept. 23 in the Wyatt United Methodist Church. The double- ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Floyd V. Brower.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Garrett of Sikeston Route Four, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. T. (Jack) Small of Wyatt.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Garrett wore an all- white, Juliet- style gown of crepe and chiffon with white trim around the cuffs, hem and neck. Her train-length veil was adorned with pink and red rosebuds. She carried an old fashioned compact bouquet with a cluster of red and pink roses and babies breath with white streamers. The gown was designed and made by the bride.

Mrs. Terry Bryant of Sikeston played the traditional wedding march for the ceremony.

Maid of honor was Miss Gail Elaine Garrett, sister of the bride.

Craig Thompson Small, brother of the groom, served as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

The groom is associated with Small's L. P. Gas Co. of Wyatt, where the couple will make its home.

The new Mrs. Small is a 1972 graduate of Sikeston High School. Small attended Kentucky Military Institute and Southeast Missouri State University.

Inaugural Medals

Issuing of official inaugural medals to commemorate U.S. presidents apparently derived from identification badges used by members of inaugural committees. The badges became larger and more decorative, evolved into commemorative inaugural medals and these are now treasured by collectors throughout the world.

Ann Landers

Trick or Treating Is No Longer Safe

Dear Ann Landers: My hat is off to you for having the courage to speak out on subjects that most people would just as soon duck. I refer to your column on "funny uncles."

I didn't have a "funny uncle" but I had a step- father who took indecent liberties with me for about four years, starting when I was six. I didn't know what it was all about until I reached my tenth birthday and was put wise by a playmate who was a couple of years older that I was. Her step- father was "funny" with her and she wrote to you about it. You told her to tell him if he came near her again she would go immediately to her mother and ruin him. She took your advice and he never bothered her after that.

I decided to do the same with my step- father although I was scared to death he might give me a beating. Well, Ann, that was the last time he tried to act funny with me. Although this happened eight years ago I think of it nearly every day and I remember you in prayers every night. Please forgive me for not writing to say thanks-- until now.--- One You Saved

Dear One: No apologies are necessary. Your letter gives me another opportunity to tell all my young readers that if a relative, friend or neighbor gets "funny" they should not be afraid to say, "If you come near me again I'll tell my Mom and Dad." Then do it if the warning isn't enough.

Dear Ann Landers: If you print this letter a few days before Haloween, it could save some young lives.

This year my children have invited a few friends in. They will play games and we have prizes for the best costume and the funniest pumpkin. We will not allow the children to go

What a shameful thing that youngsters can no longer safely accept Halloween treats offered by kind neighbors who for many years prepared sacks of goodies, baked cookies and candy for this traditional holiday. But that's the way it is.

We often speak of how the world has changed. The fact that I am writing illustrates one of the most dramatic changes in our society. A person has to be sick to put razor blades, LSD or arsenic in Halloween candy or caramel apples and give them to innocent children who are out for a night of fun.

home are a splendid idea. Parents who allow their youngsters to go from door to door should instruct them to go ONLY to those neighbors whom they know personally and to accept nothing from strangers.

Dear Ann: Help! Hurry! What is wrong with a woman who has been married six years, has a wonderful husband and two adorable children and feels herself attracted to another man? I didn't want trick or treating because it is no longer safe. I hope you will warn other parents who have not yet caught up with the fact that 1972 isn't 1952, or even '62.--- Sad Realist

Dear Realist: Here's your letter and my thanks for having written it. I second the motion. Small Halloween parties at this to happen but it seems beyond my control. My husband knows nothing about it and I must get myself straightened around before he suspects something.

Am I crazy? Can the Solution be found in self-discipline?--- Saturn

Dear Sat: You aren't crazy. Just human. Self- discipline, plus keeping your distance can be immensely helpful. I recommend both.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage-- What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Regional FHA Hears Westbrook

KENNETT — John Westbrook was guest speaker at the annual meeting of Region 7, Future Homemakers of America, at Kennett High School. Approximately 719 members, advisors and mothers attended.

The meeting was called to order by Debra Baxter, of Caruthersville, president. After presentation of the regional officers, Carla Woodard proceeded with the roll call. She was assisted by secretaries of each chapter in the region.

Westbrook then expressed his ideas on the joys and utter mysteries of life, after which the Portageville chapter presented a skit.

Members divided themselves into small groups for "DIG" sessions — for Discovery, Involvement and Growth — part of the national program of work.

Several filmstrips were shown on aging to bring out the theme that FHA is for older Missourians.

Hold Bluff Trio On Several Charges

POPLAR BLUFF — Police are holding two young men and a juvenile, all from Poplar Bluff, on an assortment of charges that includes suspicion of possession of drugs following a series of incidents that led to their arrests early Saturday.

Charged with peace disturbance and public intoxication is Ronald W. Robinson, who was the first of the trio to be arrested. Later in the morning, officers arrested Wesley A. Brown and a 16-year-old boy, whose name was not released, for investigation of possession of drugs.

Officers said they received a complaint over the telephone at 12:15 a.m. Saturday from a person who alleged that Robinson was causing a disturbance at Broadway and North Kingshighway. He was arrested and charged. The complaint stated that Robinson was carrying a gun, but police said he had no weapon in his possession when he was arrested.

The complainant later told police that the gun had been placed into a car operated by a man named "Porter," officers related.

At 3:15 a.m., Sgt. Eugene Huttegger, the police dispatcher on duty received a telephone call from a man who identified himself only as "Porter."

Police said the caller was requesting information about Robinson's arrest and was told to come to police headquarters.

When the caller arrived, he was identified as Wesley A. Brown. Officers said they found a straight-blade razor in Brown's pant pocket and he was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

A later check of the car Brown had driven to the station turned up a smoking pipe containing marijuana sediment and five pills believed to be illegally possessed. Police said they found no gun in the car. The juvenile accompanied Brown to the station.

Cohen Plans Appeal Of Tax Evasion

KENNETT— Insurance consultant David. C. Cohen is appealing a sentence dealt out in the U.S. Federal District Court in St. Louis, on a conviction of income tax evasion.

Cohen's attorneys have 10 days to file the appeal in the U.S. Court of Appeals, Eighth District.

If the higher court affirms the conviction on three counts of a four- count indictment, Cohen will begin serving a four year prison sentence in federal prison.

Judge James Meredith sentenced Cohen to four years in prison on one count, three years in prison on a second count and ordered him placed on probation for five years on a third count, the probation to commence on his release from imprisonment of the four- year term.

A news release issued to the news media Tuesday by the Internal Revenue Service's District Office in St. Louis said the probation would commence on the date "Cohen begins serving his prison sentence." Today, the IRS office said the information was in error, and the five years probation on count three would begin after he was released from prison.

Cohen's conviction came for attempted evasion of his income tax for the year 1965. Previously he was found guilty in a jury trial of three or four counts of income tax charges brought by the IRS office. Earlier, he had pleaded not guilty to the charges.

The jury acquitted Cohen on one of the four counts.

Until a decision is made on the appeal, which could take from six to eight months, Cohen remains free on his own recognizance.

Poll Places Bond In Narrow Lead Over Dowd

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Republican gubernatorial nominee Christopher S. "Kit" Bond holds a narrow lead over his opponent, Democrat Edward L. Dowd, according to a poll of seven south-central Miss uri counties by the St. Louis Globe Democrat and Kansas City Star.

The results, published in today's editions, say Bond had a 6.2 per cent lead in the following counties surveyed: Dent, Howell, Iron, Pulaski, Ripley, Shannon and Texas.

Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth was the only other Republican among other top office seekers who had a lead, the poll indicated.

The same poll said President Nixon held a lead of 32.5 per cent over George McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate.

The Globe-Democrat said the poll was conducted among 240 voters, or one-half of one per cent of the eligible voters in the counties. The paper said the poll consisted of person-to-person interviews but other information was not announced.

Cancel Air Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alerts of air transport units at various Air Force bases around the country have been canceled and the Pentagon is trying to dampen speculation the alerts were connected with a possible evacuation of U.S. prisoners from North Vietnam.

"The Department of Defense knows of no imminent release of prisoners of war and we have taken no unusual action in this connection," said a Pentagon spokesman Sunday.

Alerts were reported Saturday by sources at McGuire AFB in New Jersey, Travis AFB in California, Dover AFB in Delaware, McChord AFB near Tacoma, Wash., and Charleston AFB in South Carolina.

A source at McGuire said technical crews had worked all night Friday preparing planes for medical evacuation. But the alert was lifted Sunday afternoon, about 32 hours after it went into effect, and all units were ordered to resume normal operations, the source said.

The reason for the alert was not explained.

CINCINNATI — Consecutive sixth-inning doubles by Gene Tenace and Sal Bando drove in two runs to lead the Oakland Athletics to a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the seventh and deciding game of the 1972 World Series.

A's-- World Champions

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Oakland A's—World Champions.

"It has a nice ring to it," said Dick Williams.

"The trophy belongs right here," the Oakland manager added while squeezing the gold bauble symbolic of a World Series winner.

The trophy belonged to the A's because of good relief pitching and clutch hitting—the combination that helped win four of the seven baseball games, including Sunday's 3-2 thriller.

Rollie Fingers came through with the pitching again and Gene Tenace delivered another clutch hit as the A's defeated the Reds in the final showdown.

"It's a beautiful thing," said Williams, pointing to the trophy in the champagne-drenched A's clubhouse.

Williams understandably was emotional about his new-found status in the baseball world. He had led the Boston Red Sox to a pennant in 1967, but lost the World Series to the St. Louis Cardinals. Two years later, he was fired.

He was able to take this trophy home to Oakland even though the A's weren't given much of a chance to win it.

From the start, they were torn with dissension and labeled a patsy for the powerful National League champion Reds.

Pitcher Vida Blue and first baseman Mike Epstein were the most notable of the players disatisfied with their roles in the series. Blue verbally blasted his manager and owner Charles O. Finley because he wanted to be a starter, not a relief pitcher. Epstein had a shouting match with Williams after he was taken out of a game early for defensive purposes.

Williams, accused of overmanaging, moved his men around as if he were playing chess. And, for the most part, he made the right moves.

Some questioned Williams' logic in using Tenace in the lineup in place of Dave Duncan, a catcher who had hit 19 home runs during the season. But Tenace, who only hit five out of the park this year, made his manager look like a genius when he hit two home runs in the first game for all the runs as the A's took a 3-2 decision. Blue, after sounding off the day before, came in to save the game for starter Ken Holtzman.

In the second game at Cincinnati, Fingers gave Jim "Catfish" Hunter ninth-inning help and Joe Rudi hit a home run and made an outstanding catch against the left field wall to preserve a 2-1 Oakland triumph.

The beleaguered Reds were treated with disdain in Oakland. At the A's ballpark, fans showered left fielder Pete Rose with eggs and oranges. At Oakland City Hall, a sign read:

"Where's Cincinnati?"

The Oakland partisans found out soon enough. Or at least, they found out who Jack Billingham was. The journeyman pitcher, with only a .500 lifetime record in the majors, allowed but three hits and no runs in eight innings and won his first World Series game 1-0 over the A's. Clay Carroll, the Reds' best relief pitcher, saved the game for him.

After rain postponed the fourth game one day at Oakland, the A's took a 3-1 lead in the Series by beating the Reds 3-2 with a dramatic, two-run rally in the ninth inning. Williams could do no wrong with his replacements and the result was three singles by pinch-hitters, including Angel Mangual's game-winning blow. Tenace hit his third home run of the Series as well.

Rose held in check the first four games, got back at the Oakland pitchers with two runs batted in—a first-pitch homer in the first inning and a gamewinning single in the ninth—as the Reds won the fifth game 5-4 and sent the Series back to Cincinnati. Tenace hit his fourth home run in that game to tie a Series record shared by four others, including Babe Ruth.

Cincinnati pounded the ball in the sixth game. The Reds scored five runs in the seventh inning as Bobby Tolan and Cesar Geronimo delivered two-run singles enroute to an 8-1 victory.

Finley, the eccentric Oakland owner, sat sourly near the A's dugout and took abuse from the Cincinnati fans at Riverfront Stadium.

His day came Sunday, however, when Tenace and Sal Bando drilled run-scoring doubles in the sixth inning and Fingers came on in the eighth to get the A's out of trouble in the deciding game.

Finley, one of baseball's controversial owners, also was one of the most emotional after the final-game victory.

Bedecked in a rich green jacket and gold pants, the owner elbowed his way through the A's crowded dressing room and spilled champagne on everyone within range.

He also kissed Williams on the cheek.

"Neither club is better than the other," said Williams.

Praise came easy from a man who had achieved his goal.

Mizzou Scores Upset

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The only thing Notre Dame won was the coin toss; but that's not good enough - even for a team that's ranked No. 8, unbeaten in four games and playing a team that lost 62-0 the week before.

Well, Notre Dame's Fighting Irish sloshed onto their home field Saturday, took the opening kickoff, went 17 yards in three plays, then turned the ball over to Missouri on the first of seven Irish errors.

An Missouri, humiliated by Nebraska a week earlier, took advantage of every miscue and came away with a stunning 30-26 upset.

Under a constant drizzle, with temperatures in the 40s, the unranked Tigers riddled a Notre Dame defense which had given up just 30 points in its first four games.

In the first half, Missouri scored every time it had the ball, with all three touchdowns coming on fourth-down plays.

And in the second half, Notre Dame fumbles led to two of Greg Hill's three field goals for the Tigers.

"I have no explanation as to why we fumbled so much - the ball was just as wet for both sides," Irish Coach Ara Parseghian said.

"It was obvious that Missouri was very well prepared," he said. "In addition, they executed almost perfectly. Except for several delay penalties near the end of the game they didn't have a single call against them. That proves how well they executed."

Missouri Coach Al Onofrior, whose Tigers evened their record at 3-3, said it was "a tremendous victory for us, our biggest since I've been a coach at Missouri."

He added, "In the fourth quarter, with the score 30-14, we went to a softer defense, trying to prevent the big play. When you play Notre Dame, you have to be aggressive, and play the percentages. This accounted for our attempts in trying to convert fourth-down situations."

The Irish scored twice in the last quarter, on a 13-yard run by quarterback Tom Clements and a 12-yard scamper by Andy Huff.

Missouri's Don Johnson scored two touchdowns and Leroy Moss added a 16-yard score.

Clements led all rushers with 94 yards in 13 carries and completed seven of 17 passes for 108 yards.

Nader Reports On Legislators

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Here are excerpts from the "Ralph Nader Congress Project" profiles on U.S. senators and representatives from Missouri, except those who are retiring this year:

Sen. Stuart Symington: The veteran Democrat is a "changed man" according to Nader's report, going from "Suparhawk" in the early 1960's to become one of the leading critics of U.S. foreign policies and the military establishment.

Symington carries on a lovehate relationship with the major military contractor in Missouri, McDonnell-Douglas Corp., based in St. Louis, the report said. Symington's major concern is jobs for his constituents and he is not always happy with the firm's performance in this area, it said. Symington, 71, wants McDonnell to subcontract more of its work in Missouri, the report said.

When the senator decided to seek a fourth term in 1970, there was talk that he was primarily interested in maintaining his political strength as a legacy for his son Rep. James Symington, the report said. Both of them denied the implication.

SEN. THOMAS EAGLETON: The man, who stepped down as the Democratic vice presidential nominee Aug. 1 is described as an outspoken Vietnam War critic, who is also keenly aware of the problems in his home state.

On key economic issues that have arisen during his time in the Senate, Eagleton has supported a reduction in the oil depletion allowance, stricter depreciation rules and lower tax credits, the report said.

REP. RICHARD ICHORD: The 8th District Democratic Congressman's activities as chairman of the House Internal Security Committee are given exhaustive study in the Nader report. The various antiwar groups that have dominated the committee's attention for nearly two years have often been linked, in Ichord's estimation, with the international Communist movement, the report said.

Although his chairmanship of the committee takes up much of his time, Ichord has been fairly active in trying to bring federal benefits back to his district, the report said.

REP. JAMES SYMINGTON: As one of two father and son teams on Capitol Hill (the other is Sen. Barry Goldwater, RAriz., and his son, Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr., R-Colo..) Symington does not believe his political fortune is a case of nepotism, the report said, "In Congress I am not about to let myself become labeled as Stuart Symington's Little Sir Echo," the report quoted the congressman as saying. But in matters of foreign policy, he does consult his father, the report said.

The 2nd District Democratic congressman is anything but a "hawk" on the Vietnam War, it went on to say. On the other hand, he has voted consistently against general defense budget cuts, certain to affect McDonnell-Douglas and other defense contractors in his district, the report said.

REP. LEONOR SULLIVAN: Her job representing the 3rd Missouri District is Leonor Sullivan's all-consuming job, Nader's Congress report said.

If Democrats keep their majority in the House in January, Mrs. Sullivan will become the chairwoman of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. In her 1970 campaign, her two largest single contributions came from the Seafarers Political Activity Committee and the Marine Engineer Beneficia organization, both labor groups, the report said. If she becomes chairwoman she sees no reason to change her policy of accepting these contributions, the report said, adding that her only guideline for accepting contributions is that she never solicits donations.

REP. BILL BURLISON: The Democratic congressman from the state's 10th District is hard to place squarely in either the northern or southern political patterns. Burlison is a hardliner on crime and votes with Southern Democrats 50 per cent of the time, the report said.

Nevertheless, the liberal special interest group, Americans for Democratic Action, gives him a 49 per cent rating for his votes on selected issues, the report said.

The report said Burlison is the beneficiary of "a restless peace" between the northern and southern reaches of his district. "The two political horses Burlison is now straddling at home in Missouri may well part company and dart off in opposite directions." The report said Burlison's future rests "on his ability to shape effective means of revitalizing the uneasy coalition between the Bootheel and Jefferson County and between Cape Girardeau and the Big Springs region..."

Rep. Richard Bolling: Nader's congressional report calls Richard Bolling a "national politician from Kansas City" who is in love with the House of Representatives.

The author of two political books, Bolling has been near the center of power for most of his 23 years as a House member, the report said. The 5th District Democrat believes that an unsophisticated electorate forces bad policy decisions on the government, the report stated.

"The American people started the Cold War by squawking about bringing the boys home," the report quotes him as saying.

Congress foolishly complied with the popular desire by voting rapid World War II demilitarization, and the Soviet Union responded with a belligerent expansionist policy, the report quoted Bolling.

In 1972 Bolling believes that government officials should ignore popular discontent with Vietnam, and do what must be done to preserve order in the world, the report said.

REP. WILLIAM J. RANDALL: The Jackson County Democrat, who represents Harry Truman and 527,989 other persons in Missouri's 4th District, has taken a hard line stand on the war in Southeast Asis, the Nader report said.

He has long been in favor of strong military action in Vietnam, and the American Security Council gave him a score of 100 on his floor votes for 196970.

Key votes show that Randall does not hesitate to allot funds for defense projects and military development, the report said. In the area of justice, Randall has voted for the "noknock" bill and allocation of funds to the Subversive Activities Control Board for a secret blacklist, it said. He has denied funds for integration and is a foe of school busing, it said.

In the 1972 race, Randall will be relying on his reputation and his record of achievements, the report said. In the past he has promised the people an "extra measure of service", the report said. The general opinion among the organizations that support him is that he has given it, the report said.

REP. WILLIAM CLAY: The St. Louis Democratic Congressman, who served a prison term following his conviction in 1962 for protesting alleged unfair hiring practices at a St. Louis bank, has continued to fight for civil rights, the report said.

Clay, who was elected to represent the 1st District in 1968, has repeatedly fought to improve the physical, economic and social environment of his district, which is about half black, the report stated. A sampling of community groups and leaders indicated that has strong support among labor and civil rights groups, the report said, but the black congressman has little support from the business community, it said.

"Clay has one of the worst attendance records for floor votes in the House. In 1971, he was absent for 45 per cent of the votes, while the average Democratic member of Congress was absent for only 12 per cent, the report said.

What's The Law

The Case Of The Determined Mother

While mothers may be necessary, they were hard to find in Mr. Pincus's factory. The reason? He doggedly refused to hire women with preschool children at home. Consequently, when Betty, who has preschool children at home, applied for a position as a trainee on one of his assembly lines, she stood about as much chance as Adam had when Eve presented him with the apple. A determined woman, however, Betty fought for the job in court when Mr. Pincus turned her down.

"If I know any of my rights," she told the judge, "I know my civil rights. An employer can't discrinimate against women in dishing out employment. And since Mr. Pincus hires men with preschool children at home, he's bound to hire women in the same situation. Otherwise it's discrimination."

"Nonsense," responded Mr. Pincus. "I like women. They're the last people in the world that I'd discriminate against. In fact, they constitute a very high percentage of my employees. Mothers, however, are a different story. The civil rights law talks about men and women, but not about mothers."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you find that Mr. Pincus was guilty of discrimination in not hiring Betty?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that Mr. Pincus' practices did not discriminate against women as a whole. It is not discrimination based upon sex, as contemplated by the Civil Rights Act, noted the judge, for an employer to hire men with preschool children at home while refusing to do so in the case of women.

He was killed by a deer slug fired from a J. C. Higgins 12-gauge shotgun.

Hannibal Man Goes 6,000 Miles To Work

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — Most people in this Mississippi River town can drive from their home to work in 10 minutes or less, but one resident may be the world champion commuter.

Charles K. Mudd doesn't make the trip every day, but when he does, he figures it's a 6,000-mile trip to his job as maintenance shop supervisor for the Oasis Oil Co., in Libya.

When Mudd and his family lived in Tripoli, Libya, he worked two full weeks in the company's desert base at Waha and then had one week off the job. Now that Mudd has moved his family to his old hometown, he works six weeks in the desert and takes three weeks off.

Mudd said he moved his family to Hannibal last year to enhance the education of his three children. They had lived in Libya for more than eight years.

"In 1970, the prime minister of Libya ordered native children should attend the company school," Mudd said. "We decided our children's education would suffer, so we returned to the States."

Mudd says his commuting costs are high, but under the circumstances "it's worth it." He flies commercially to Tripoli and then takes a company plane to his base at Waha, 700 miles away.

A spokesman for TWA said a round-trip, first-class flight from St. Louis to Tripoli costs $1,242.

Life at the desert camp, Mudd says, "is not too bad, just not very exciting." The camp provides a variety of recreational facilities for the men, but families are not permitted there except at Christmas because of the lack of schools and shopping facilities.

Mudd said the favorite activity at the camp is going into the desert at night.

"Almost all of us go out in the evening and look for fossils, petrified wood, arrow heads or World War II relics. It doesn't get dark until 10 p.m., so going into the desert is really the biggest form of recreation," he said.

As a result, Mudd has an extensive collection of fossils he found in the desert, including a petrified elephant's head.

Mudd's wife, Etta, says she has learned to adjust to her husband's unusual working situation.

"It is not too hard of an adjustment," she said. "I don't like separations, but with Kenny home during the day I find we have a much better environment. We can do things together, and when we have a quarrel, we can solve it without the children underfoot."

Mudd sees at least one advantage to the arrangement, too. "When I get home, Etta is so glad to see me she doesn't mind putting up with me around the house," he said.

St. Louis Groups Will Honor Veterans' Day In November

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Some veterans groups here decided to ignore Veterans' Day today, preferring instead to celebrate it on Nov. 11.

"There's no significance to it," said Joseph L. Gaal, 11th District American Legion commander. "Nov. 11 was the original Armistice Day. It means nothing to us. Maybe Congress will decide to change it back to the original date."

THAT'S A FACT

How Do YOU Feel About
Diverting Highway Funds?
"We have a need for mass transit systems, but unlike my opponent, I do not believe Highway funds should be diverted." That's how Ed Dowd feels about diverting highway funds for mass transit! He also says, "Missouri's highways are the best in the nation . . . but they would be destroyed by taking away their funds . . . other sources must be found." If that's the way you feel about diverting highway funds for mass transit, then Ed Dowd's your man for Missouri's Governor.

Sure, the people of Missouri want a change. But we all know a change for change's sake isn't the answer. The real answer lies with a mature man of Ed Dowd's unquestioned good character. The son and grandson of policemen . . . a father who understands . . . a man who didn't inherit a thing except an honest respect for the working man, a compassion for those less fortunate and a sincere willingness to help. We can trust Ed Dowd to do the right thing for all the people. Be sure November 7. Vote for Ed Dowd, Democrat for Governor.
Paid for by Scott County Committee for Dowd, C.L. Blanton III, Chairman.

Globe Reports Bond Worth Under Million

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported Sunday that financial holdings of Christopher S. "Kit" Bond, Republican candidate for governor, were slightly less than $1 million.

Bond reported earlier this year what his investments included but declined to give the net amount. He has been criticized by his Democratic opponent Edward L. Dowd, for not making the full disclosure. Dowd listed net assets of $108,000.

The Post said in its Sunday edition that Bond acknowledged he was worth "about $1 million—I think slightly less, I really haven't figured it all up."

The 33-year-old state auditor is the grandson of the late A. P. Green, who founded a large firebrick company in Mexico, Mo.

Dowd had said voters should know how much money Bond owned in municipal bonds and other interests that the state might do business with. The Post said Bond's municipal bonds were worth about $50,000. His earlier statement said he owned bonds from Florissant, Mo., the Rockwood School District in St. Louis County, Jackson County, Columbia, Mo., and Audrain County.

Most of Bond's stocks are in U.S. Gypsum Co., the paper said. He also has stock in Masschusetts Groth Mutual Fund, Crum and Forster, Inc., Suburban Propane Gas Corp., International Business Machines Corp., and the Washington Post Co.

Dowd Pledges Changes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Edward L. Dowd, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, promised Sunday to strengthen Missouri's Public Service Commission to protect consumers against public utilities.

Dowd said: "If the utility does not get what it wants the first time around, it just comes back three months later and asks for another increase," Dowd said.

In remarks prepared for a meeting at the Machinists Union hall here, Dowd said the PSC is not staffed well enough to keep a close check on the big utilities, which he said wield great monopolistic power.

He said the utilities are arrogant in that they advertise in the public media in support of their rate increases and the consumer winds up paying for the advertising.

"We have to give the Public Service Commission the tools to stand up to the utilities," Dowd said. He pledged, if elected, to appoint capable reprssentatives of the people to the PSC and also to back legislation to make the utilities pay more for the support of the commission.

Power Company Scaring Fish By Rock Music

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Electric Co. says it's going to attempt to scare gizzard shad from waters near its facilities by broadcasting rock music on underwater loudspeakers.

The utility says the one-foot long fish die from a lack of oxygen when they are drawn by heated water from the firm's water discharge pipes in the East and West Slip Bay waters of Lake Erie.

The utility says its using rock and other contemporary music because scientists have advised that fish can become accustomed to less jarring music.

Morsell said. Looking back, he added, people shouldn't feel so complacent.

Danger signals are flying because of inadequacies in education and job opportunities among blacks, Morsell said.

He said two- thirds of all black workers are unskilled. Nationally, the unemployment rate among blacks is double that of whites, and in some places, it is 10 to 20 times that of whites, he said.

Of all black males between the ages of 18 and 25, Morsell added, figures show that 50 per cent have never had a job and will never enter the labor market.

The median income of blacks has doubled in the past 10 years from $3,000 to over $6,000, he said, but it has actually fallen farther behind the white median income.

Seventy- four per cent of all new jobs are located in the suburbs instead of the cities, Morsell said, but the vast majority of blacks live in the cities and not the suburbs.

The Nixon administration will not use the power of the federal government to encourage the movement of nonwhites to the suburbs, he charged.

Morsell said President Nixon is using busing as a code word for race in an attempt to strike fear into the hearts of the American people.

"We can no longer look with maximum hope to the national level for the aid we need," Morsell said. "We no longer have a friend in the White House."

He said the NAACP will work in the future with state legislators, mayors and councilment to achieve progress.

Certificates of merit were awarded to the Charleston and Haywood City branches of NAACP for surpassing their goals in new memberships and donations to the Freedom Fund.

Kennett Youth Held For Shooting Death

KENNETT — Richard Edward Noble, 18, Route Two, is being held in the Dunklin County Jail in connection with the shooting death Saturday of James Jefferson Mitchell, 19, Caruth, according to Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott.

Sheriff Scott said Mitchell was shot once in the left chest with a 22- caliber revolver following an argument with Nobel at the latter's home early Saturday.

According to Sheriff Scott, Mitchell had been out on a date with Nobel's sister Patricia and had brought her home in a taxi around 12:05 a.m. Saturday. Scott said Mitchell and the girl remained in the cab in the yard of the Noble home which is located on a gravel road just off Route A.

The girl's mother then called for her to come in but according to the sheriff, she remained in the cab. At this time, her brother Richard reportedly came outside and "got into it with Mitchel" and Mitchell was fatally shot in the left chest."

The taxi driver then rushed Mitchell to the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival at 12:45 a.m.

Nobel's mother called Sheriff Scott to the scene where he was assisted in the investigation by Kennett police and Dunklin County Coroner Tom Doherty.

new faces! new ideas!
new determination to build a better Missouri!

It's what's behind the faces of our Democratic candidates that makes the differences.

Differences in experience and maturity. Differences in achievements and service to the people of Missouri. Vital differences to every Missourian in responsible and responsive government.

There's another difference we think you'll consider important. The forward-looking programs of our Missouri Democratic candidates are aimed squarely at solving the everyday problems of people. Problems of education, jobs, health care, taxes, and crime. And the needs of the elderly, the handicapped, and all victims of inflation.

But that's what you'd expect of leaders representing the party of Truman, Hennings, Symington and Eagleton, isn't it?

Kissinger Says Progress Made In Vietnam Talks

SAIGON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger left Saigon for Washington today after the most intensive peace talks of the Indochina war, and the U.S. Embassy said progress had been made toward a settlement. But it indicated that the U.S. and South Vietnamese government still differ on some points.

"We have made progress," said an embassy statement. "Talks will continue between us and the government of Vietnam. It is not in the interest of negotiations to be more specific at this time."

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese government was reported preparing for the eventuality of a cease-fire.

President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser flew home to report to Nixon after six meetings with President Nguyen Van Thieu. Asked at the airport if his visit had been productive, Kissinger replied, "It always is when I'm here."

Although Newsweek and Time magazines reported that the United States and North Vietnam have agreed to a settlement that would include a cease-fire, there was no confirmation from either U.S. or South Vietnamese officials in Saigon.

South Vietnamese sources said, however, that Thieu had issued orders that junior military officers — lieutenants and captains — should prepare to take over the functions of civilian village chiefs in the event of a cease-fire.

This was intended to insure that the Saigon government had a firm hold on the population and the government machinery should a settlement come, the sources said.

For the past two months, government workers have been painting South Vietnamese flags on the doors, walls and gates of homes and other buildings all over the country. The flags, which first began appearing more than a year ago, have often been described as a show allegiance in the event of a cease-fire.

Informants said that during the past two weeks, government troops have captured at least two caches of Viet Cong flags during operations near Saigon and on the northern coast.

The Thieu government has been preparing contingency plans for a cease-fire for several months, aimed at strengthening and maintaining security and control over the local population.

The question of control would be a major issue in the event of a standstill cease-fire, and both sides would try to seize and hold as much territory and population as they could before a deadline, officials believe.

Senior field commanders were told last week that their immediate mission was to open up key highways closed by fighting and to drive enemy forces from hamlets and villages.

179,000 Bales Are Ginned

HAYTI — Trading remained rather slow on Missouri cotton markets last week. Demand weakened and prices were slightly lower, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Hayti classing office.

Most producers were hesitant to sell uncommitted cotton at present market prices. A small amount of current ginnings were sold at prices ranging from 300 - 400 points over CCC loan rates.

Gins paid farmers an average of $45 per ton for cottonseed.

The cotton harvest resumed in a few areas the latter part of the week. Rains had stopped picking during the week. Gins were able to alleviate some of their backlog during the lull. Good to excellent yields were reported in most areas.

The Agricultural Marketing Service's Hayti classing office had classed a season total of 179,000 samples for farmers through Friday. Grades were lower and staple length was shorter on the samples classed last week as compared to the week before

Strict Low Middling was still the predominant grade accounting for 47 per cent last week and 56 per cent a week earlier. The percentage of samples grading Low Middling increased from 11 per cent to 27 per cent last week.

Seventy- five per cent of the samples stapled 1 1/16 inches last week against 55 per cent a week earlier. Twenty- five percent had 1 3/32 inches staples and 45 per cent were in this category in the previous week.

Mike readings were about unchanged from a week ago with 96 per cent in the 3.5 to 4.9 range. Breaking strength on the samples tested for the week ending Oct. 16 averaged 82,000 pounds per square inch.

CTA Charges 'Gross Misrepresentations'

PORTAGEVILLE— The salary committee of the Community Teachers Association of New Madrid R— 1 District today charged that a progress report concerning teacher salaries and instructional expenses, which was released last week by Superintendent of Schools Dr. George Reuter Jr., contained several "gross misrepresentations."

The report covered the 1970- 71 and 1971- 72 school years.

Jim Mauk of Portageville, chairman of the Community Teachers Association salary committee, issued the following release today to the press:

"The report stated that over a year ago teachers salaries were increased by $442,143. This increase was due, in large part, to the operation of two new facilities and additional administrators in the latter period that employed approximately 20 additional personnel.

"This accounted for one half of the increase! The other half was much less than the school district's share of $70 million appropriated by the state primarily for upgrading teacher salaries.

"The report failed to mention that the state appropriated an additional $35 million for the 1972- 73 school year where the present salary dispute has its basis. The report also failed to mention that while decreasing support to the teachers' fund, the balance at the end of the 1971- 72 school year was $533,000 and will, unless the pay scale is altered, exceed $600,000 at the end of this school year.

"The report also compared expenses for instructional material. While it is true that new duplicating machines, copy machines, typewriters, calculators and furniture adorn administrative offices, the teachers' concern is for material made available to student use.

"While the teachers do not have all the answers, we do have many questions that the next R— 1 report may answer.

"1. Since the disagreement arose over salaries for 1972- 73, why are the rates for last year and the year before compared in the report?

"2. Since we are publishing salaries, why don't we publish the salaries of administrators, especially those drawing in excess of $12,500 per year?

"3. Since the administrators claim they received no raise for the last two years, can we assume they have been drawing these fabulous salaries for at least two full years?

"4. Was a $300 per year increase in base salary for teachers really out of line considering that the additional state funding was made available?

"5. What law of nature is it that says administrators are underpaid at $17,000 and teachers are overpaid at $6,400?

"6. How many administrators drawing in excess of $10,000 per year have been added since the "cost- saving" reorganization?

"7. Why were teachers told in April 1972 that if the state, appropriates funds for for the Foundation Program, that raises in salary would be made and, in fact, they were not?

"8. Is the purpose for accumulating hugh balances in the building fund (at the expense of the teachers' fund) to build a comprehensive high school? Do the patrons of the R— 1 district have no right to vote on such plans if it means closing the present high schools? If it were built by bonds, then would they have the right to vote their approval?

"If the administration chooses to answer these questions, we feel the public will be much better informed on the operation of the schools."

Sikeston Man Beaten And Robbed

Sikeston businessman Glen Slayton, 1514 E. Gladys St., was found lying in a pool of blood outside his store Saturday night after being beaten during an apparent robbery.

Slayton, who owns Slayton Fixtures at 841 W. Malone Ave. was found about 10 p.m. by a member of the nearby Missourian Men's Club.

Slayton was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital where he received 15 stitches in wounds of the left cheek and eyes. He was admitted for further observation.

Police said Slayton was unable to tell them who attacked him or why.

Slayton's billfold was missing, according to police.

Five other thefts were reported to police over the weekend.

Howard Brewer, 837 Mary St., told police that someone entered his home between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Saturday and took an eight-track tape player valued at $130, a cassette tape player worth $59 and a camera valued at $69.

A pair of skates belonging to Karen Scherffius of Bell City Route One, were reported taken from a car parked at Burger King on East Malone Avenue sometime between 5:30 and 6 p.m. Sunday.

Cox Office Supply Co. at 119 W. Malone was broken into Sunday morning and $25 in change was taken. Police said entrance was gained by breaking open the rear door.

The rear door of the Dollar General Store on East Front Street was found open Sunday morning. The door was believed opened between 10:30 p.m. Saturday and 12:40 a.m. Sunday. Nothing appeared to be missing from the store, police said.

A coin box was stolen from a vending machine at the Mini Mart at 709 Smith St. The coin box is believed to have held $15 in change.

The accident occurred when the pickup slowed and was struck in the rear by a car driven by Frank Daffron of Covina, Calif.

James Casteel, 24, of Valley Park received a possible fractured back in a one-car accident at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in Ironton. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Ironton.

The accident occurred when a car driven by David Wayne Mayberry, 21, of Ironton ran off the road and struck a driveway culvert. Casteel was a passenger in the Mayberry car.

Two Sikeston women were involved in an accident Sunday at 1:35 a.m. on Highway 61 six miles south of Sikeston. Virginia Campbell, 25, of Sikeston was shaken up and a passenger, Joan McClung, 37, received facial cuts. They were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Terry Ranson, 23, of Sikeston, stopped halfway onto the highway with engine trouble, was struck in the rear by the Campbell car. Mrs. Campbell reported she was blinded by the lights of approaching traffic.

Nixon Has Turned Back Clock, Morsell Charges

By RON PORTER

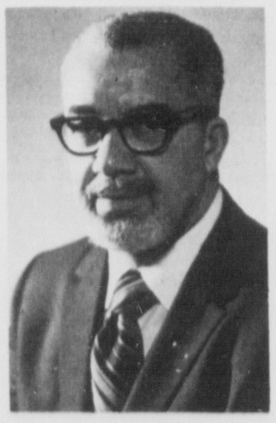
Black Americans must work harder to achieve equality in the years ahead because of the Nixon administration's lack of effort in the field of civil rights and short comings in the fields of education and job opportunities, according to Dr. John Morsell of New York City.

Morsell is assistant executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He spoke to about 200 persons at the Freedom Fund Banquet of the NAACP state convention Saturday night at Ramada Inn.

Calling the Nixon administration "evil in its complete form," he attacked President Richard M. Nixon for a "calculated, planned, systematic and partly successful effort to turn back the clock," cut back programs and push civil rights out of the minds of the American people.

The Nixon administration has argued against school desegregation, tried to weaken the Voting Rights Act of 1965 and appointed conservatives to the Supreme Court in an attempt to block civil rights advances, Morsell charged.



John A. Morsell

Another enemy of the black freedom movement is complacency, he said. It's mostly found in whites, but also among blacks who say "look at everything that has happened." he charged.

But everything was achieved at a price of hard work, anguish and lives,

REA Strike Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — Union negotiators for 15,000 striking REA Express employes today weighed a new five-point contract offer that company officials said included pay hikes of up to 24 per cent.

The company made the new offer late Sunday as the nationwide walkout went through its third day. The union, the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline clerks, made no immediate comment on the package.

REA President Tom Kole said the package provided wage increases ranging from 24.02 per cent for pickup and delivery drivers to not less than 16.45 per cent for drivers, dockmen and clerical workers.

As negotiations proceeded Sunday, John McQuaid, operations vice president for REA said in Chicago that 65 executives and supervisors were working air freight operations to handle high priority medical shipments.

During a nodmal day, the company handles 43,000 shipments in its surface operations and 27,000 through its Air Express division.

DEXTER — The Clarence Myers home on Dexter Route One was burglarized Saturday between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., the Stoddard County sheriff's office reported today.

Entry was gained by breaking out the back door glass. Taken were a portable black and white television set, two guns, one saw, one pair of men's pants and six shirts.

Monday, October 23 — Veteran's Day

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Some people look so far ahead that they almost forget the present.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Today is Veterans Day — or as the British term it, Remembrance Day. Fifty-four years ago the Armistice ending the first great war was signed at a clearing in the forest of Compiegne, near Paris.

It would be easy to dwell on the hate and fear and greed unleashed in World War I. More than 37 million troops from the 30 warring nations were lost. But it were better to remember instead the forces of justice and freedom which, though at great cost, prevailed.

Historians say the terms of the Armistice and the Treaty of Versailles, signed seven months later, were ill-conceived. Like faults in the earth's political crust, it is said they led to the second global war 22 years later. Be that as it may, the world has progressed politically in the past half century. The limitations of royalty and imperialism have been broken through. The impulse of nationalism has seen many peoples win statehood.

Still, as we know, the earth's political crust is not free of tensions. The Mideast, Nigeria, Czechoslovakia, Vietnam are only the more visible trouble areas.

We should take heart when these war tremors reach us, however, if we remember the free world's victories in recent tests.

The development of nuclear weapons and missile delivery systems has raised global war from deplorable to unthinkable. Thus the courage we have shown in allout conflict must today be transformed into resolute and wise search for peace without warfare. This will not be easy. Nonetheless, we are already five years beyond the span that separated the first two world wars. The cold war between the world's major powers has to a significant degree subsided. If we are vigilant to resolve tensions the third unimaginable conflict can be avoided.

Though the cause of peace must be carried on from generation to generation, how grateful we can be for the example of those enlisted in times past.

ASK A MAN WHO LIVES THERE

Speaking of Angela Davis, you can fool some foreign admirers of the Soviet Union all of the time and all of the foreign admirers of the Soviet Union some of the time, but you can't fool a native citizen of the Soviet Union any of the time.

It was one of the latter who made the most perceptive remark about Miss Davis' triumphal tour of the workers' paradise.

After listening to some of her more sweepingly enthusiastic statements of praise for the Communist system, he asked an American reporter:

"Is she a fool or is she dishonest?"

LEGISLATORS SHOULD BE COMMENDED

Our state legislature in special session last week approved over $11 million in emergency appropriations and iit appears to us that is sufficient for the present.

Commendably, the members of the Legislature cut almost in half the appropriations requests made by Governor Hearnes.

They left in what most people consider of immediate urgency. They left out the items that can just as well wait until the regular session, which is only three months away.

Most Legislators and most Missourians agreed that many of the appropriations requested were not emergencies at all. The Legislators acted on that premise, and should be commended for it.

And, incidentally, Missourians should remember that it was a Democratic controlled Legislature that made this possible, and that to the Democratic party of Missouri and its members goes the chief credit, even though many Republicans did vote for the reduction.

THE COST OF PERMISSIVENESS

From here to Brooklyn, New York, is a "fur piece" even as the crow flies, to use the vernacular. But the impact of a court case filed in Brooklyn hits right close to home.

A businessman in Brooklyn was looted and burned out during the recent riots in the wake of Martin Luther King's assassination. And he has sued the city of New York for $250,000, claiming negligence. The storeowner contends that the police were under official orders to be permissive about the whole affair, and that no responsible effort was made to protect his property and place of business. This will be a noteworthy case, and the pocketbooks of every American citizen right across the country from Brooklyn to here are going to be affected by the decision.

Why? First off, the cop on the beat in any neighborhood is a good witness. He's a family man with children, taxes, and neighbors. And he's disciplined to follow orders. Even an idiot knows that in city after city across this land, the local police were under very heavy wraps during the so-called "disorders." And those cops are just not going to "cop any pleas" when it comes time to talk about the affair in court. If there was negligence, even negligence ordained from on high, in rendering the protection that the businessman has been paying taxes to finance, the cop on the witness stand is going to say so.

Suppose this Brooklyn businessman wins his suit against the City of New York. Well, there are another two or three hundred merchants who suffered similar or equal loss, for similar and equal reason. They'll be entering their suits.

And the insurance companies which wrote policies for fire, plate glass, malicious damage and so forth—they're watching too. What a bundle they could recover if a precedent case stands up.

If the politicians can be found negligent, thenthe taxpayers are going to have to pay some fantastic reparations. And because no city has the kind of money involved, it will have to find other sources of income to underwrite its normal operations while it pays the judgements. That means State and Federal funds to replace monies used to pay merchants and insurance companies who sue.

And if the court finds against the merchant? Watch your own insurance rates soar. In some areas they've already risen 300 percent. In other areas, homeowners and merchants can't even get insurance. Whatever the courts decide will cost you money. Permissiveness anywhere is expensive everywhere.

MAN'S WAY IS BETTER

Much of the public thinks of a forest as something that can be preserved forever. It has been difficult for the public to believe that harvesting trees intelligently is not only good business for a timber company but is necessary for the health of forest lands, and for the perpetuation of these lands as a source of recreation and wildlife refuge. If man does not harvest the forests, nature does-- and in the most ruthless manner.

The timberlands manager of a large forest products company, addressing a group of people in a small community on the Oregon Coast, used that particular region as an illustration of how nature "manages" the forests. He said on the Pacific Coast of Oregon, "The Nestucca fire in 1848 burned 300,000 acres. In 1849 some 800,000 acres between the Siuslaw and Siletz rivers went up in smoke. In 1853, the Yaquina fire started near Corvallis and burned 480,000 acres. At least 25 billion board feet of timber-- equal to what we harvest in Oregon over a period of three years today-- was estimated to have burned in that fire. In 1868 the Coos Bay fire destroyed 300,000 acres of choice timberland."

The timber executive observed that nature has "clearcut" forests with fire for century after century. Such was nature's way of removing the old and the diseased timber and replacing it with new growth. Man does it more intelligently. These are some facts of history that more people of today must learn.

DEATH OF A BASE

Peter Arnett, an Associated Press correspondent, recently visited Cam Ranh Bay and found the once mighty bastion of U.S power almost deserted. A few soldiers of South Vietnam roamed the beaches but that was virtually all the life he found there. The giant port and air facility along with the army depot had been turned over to the South Vietnamese last June.

Cam Ranh Bay, in a way, is a monument to failure of U.S. policy. The port and base, which amounted to a U.S. Singapore of the Pacific, was conceived and launched in 1965. It became a $250 million project that was painstakingly built by 40,000 men. It is 15 miles long and its facilities were vast. It accommodated heavy shipping tonnage. Cam Ranh Bay was sort of the eye of the Indochina storm through which the U.S. war effort was channeled.

When the men responsible for winning the war conceived the base, they did it to facilitate their mission of winning the struggle against the forces of communism. The people of the U.S. will remember the almost weekly promises of victory that emanated from the highest councils in our national government. The generals and the admirals were cut short, however. The war was run by politicians and the politicians were left holding the bag. They refused to win the war but they dared not lose. The glorious promises of the 1960s faded and eventually were replaced by despair and the cynicism of division at home. If we were to salvage any honor at all, it would have to be done through negotiation.

Before Cam Ranh Bay suffered its inglorious death, the critics of our war policy made an issue of this great base. They charged that the generals and admirals wanted it permanently. These same critics are beginning to turn their attention on Guantanamo in Cuba. HLH

By Victor Riesel

Speaking For Nixon: MacGregor Flatly Predicts Most Labor Will Abandon Democratic Party For First Time

WASHINGTON — In this campaign's making of a President, one of the strangest developments in 40 years has been the action and counteraction of the nation's powerful labor leaders. For the first time in decades there appears to be no consensus inside labor on a Presidential candidate. Yet the labor vote, which I do believe is a truism, will make or break the candidates.

Having asked George McGovern and Larry O'Brien where this blue and white collar vote will go, I put the same question to Clark MacGregor, President Nixon's national campaign director, asking him to speak for himself and President Nixon.

Here in his own works MacGregor claims the vote will swing to the President, overwhelmingly for the first time in Richard Nixon's career:

By Clark MacGregor,
Campaign Director Committee for the
Re-election of the President

If the nation's pundits had to stand or fall this year on their predictions of the attitudes of America's working men and women toward political candidates, their reputations would suffer dearly. For the nation's blue collar families have so far this year steadfastly refused to fall into the neat little squares prepared for them by politicians, pundits and pollsters.

Earlier in the year, when Sen. George McGovern's well-organized band of ideologues was taking advantage of a crowded field and winning primaries for him, professional observers thought they detected a groundswell of support for McGovern in blue collar precincts. This apparent support, added to McGovern's silk- stocking backing, would supposedly make the Senator a strong contender for the Presidency.

Now, when the public opinion polls show Sen. Mcgovern trailing President Nixon among voters at virtually every economic level, the prognosticators are asking what went wrong. The answer is that the experts simply forgot that blue collar workers and white collar workers, those who work with their hands and those who work in the professions, plumbers, carpenters, doctors and lawyers, share the same basic goals for their country: internal and international peace with prosperity and progress for themselves and their families.

Richard Nixon has helped provide these things. A great many Americans are afraid that the policies advocated by George McGovern would destroy them. Thus the Gallup Poll released on Sept. 10 showed that manual workers support the President by a margin of 64 per cent to 28 per cent with 8 per cent undecided. Members of labor unions duplicate this support within the polls' margin of error with the same poll showing rank- and- file labor support for the President at 61 per cent to 30 per cent for Sen. McGovern and 9 per cent undecided. This support reflects a dramatic shift of sentiment toward the President this year, compared with the election of 1968.

The shift is also clear among many leaders of organized labor--leaders who, for decades, have indentified organized labor's interest with Democratic candidates and have worked for their election. This year is different. Most significant, perhaps, was the decision of the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO to remain neutral -- the first time in its history that it has refused to endorse the Democratic Presidential candidate. George Meany and the other labor leaders on the Council understand the threat which George McGovern represents to American workers and to American society in general Their decision, in effect, is giving greater leeway than ever before for individual rank- and- file members to conclude on their own which candidate is best -- and Dr. Gallup has told us what they are concluding.

But large segments of organized labor are not merely remaining neutral. The Executive Board of America's largest independent union, the 2 million-member teamsters, has endorsed President Nixon. The President had the Teamsters' support in 1968, but many other endorsements represent first-time support for a Republican candidate for President. In total, as of the end of September, the executive boards of three national unions representing more than 2 million workers had endorsed the President, and he had received personal endorsements from the heads of nine national unions representing more than 1 ½ million workers. Less important than the numbers themselves in the fact that there has been such a massive move on the part of organized labor, not just away from George McGovern, but actually to President Nixon.

I think the reasons for this shift, like the reasons underlying the President's massive support among all Americans, are clear.

First, the thrust of the President's policies has been to maximize the chances for peace through strength while simulataneously redirecting the nation's resources into domestic programs. The major results of these policies are a phasing out of the draft, dramatic improvements in the climate of global relationships, and a Federal budget which calls for more spending on domestic needs than on defense for the first time since World War II.

Second, the President has responded to the economic crises created by past executive and Congressional mismanagement through bold initiatives in national and international economic policy. The major results of these policies are: inflation cut in half, more than 2.6 million new jobs in the last year, housing starts at the rate of 2 1/3 million per year (65 per cent more than than the average of the eight years preceding the Nixon administration), tremendous increases in spending on social programs and-- most significant of all -- an increase in real take-home wages which has given the average worker the equivalent of almost two weeks extra pay per year since the President entered the White House.

I am convinced that when the average worker looks at his children today, he believes there is much less chance that they will be called upon to serve in a war than there was before Richard Nixon became President. I am convinced that when the average worker considers his economic well-being, he believes that he is better off than he was years years ago.

I am equally convinced that the tandem McGovern proposals of increased welfare spending (coupled with a substantial tax increase to pay for it) and alarming cuts in defense spending strike most Americans as dangerous to our economy and potentially disastrous for the future of peace.

Thus, the blue collar worker joins other Americans in overwhelming support for President Nixon. The polls which show better than 60 per cent of American blue collar workers backing the President reflect rejarkably similar figures for the people as a whole. And we may well conclude that the division of the American people into economic groups which supposedly vote in opposing blocs is today a false division.

As a result, many observers predict that if the Nov. 7 election were held now, President Nixon would carry all 50 states, losing only the District of Columbia. As an optimist, I am unwilling at this point to concede the nation's capital.

But we must remember that the same experts who see this virtually unanimous electoral vote for the President as of today were earlier predicting strong blue collar support for Sen. McGovern. We must also remember that the election will not be held today. I can assure you that I remember these things constantly.

Nevertheless, my assessment is that President Nixon will occupy the White House until January 1977. And a large part of the reason is the bountiful support he is winning from America's working families.

NEW YORK (AP) — If the Lord whispered in your secret heart that you had but one month to live and let you pick that month, which would you choose? I'd say October.

The birds love it, the beasts love it, and man himself then stands upon the summit of the year.

October is all the other seasons wrapped into a 31-day grab-bag package, tied with a rainbow ribbon. It is the period when Mother Nature, the great dramatist, brings her traveling road show to a climax.

This is the month that, like a cider press, squeezes out the best juices of all the other months—the promise of spring, the sultry days of summer, the afterglow of autumn, the premonitory chill of winter. Everything that walks the earth feels an amber thrill, a tremendous bubbling vitality that sings in the pulse.

Now is the glory of the universe manifest, and in the mighty pagent of the hills each patch of woods elects its own tree beauty queen. You like the dogwood? We don't quarrel. I'll take the maple that yellow torch!

It is as if everyone suddenly had been given magic color glasses. The stars bend nearer. And that big blob of moon—a child feels it is so close he could reach up with a knife and spread it on his bread like butter.

The stag stamps on the hilltop and lifts an amorous bugle to the night.

The squirrel, bright-eyed and bushy-tailed, becomes an annual miser. The bear invests his excess profits in fat, planning to live off this stored capital until he emerges from his hibernation next spring, cross and bankrupt.

The wind at night now had become a violin, playing a love song for the young, a last tune of youth for the old. Do you stay awake to hear it? You'd better! He only plays a little while, this wandering fiddler in the dark.

October wears a crown and makes every man a king. It bears the harvest superiority of the rounded apple over the petaled flower, the advantage fruition and achievement have over pale promises. April is the fledgling politician of the year, saying, "Stock with me, and we'll go places." October is the mature statesman holding out the golden reward.

Everyone knows when October is here. The air feels like a raise in salary.

The boss smileth, the workman giveth a full dayth's—I mean day's—toil and cometh home at evenfall to a cheerful wife. She forgetteth to find fault.

Yes, it's a grand time—too late for hay fever, too early for pneumonia. It's a flood in the blood, a high tide measured by the turning sun.

There's no tax on it, so spend it while you have it. No October lasts forever, and there is no real guarantee it will ever come again.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- The most important Republican outside the Nixon administration, Governor Nelson Rockefeller, is pumping money and manpower into a bitter campaign to defeat a man he helped put in the House of Representatives 10 years ago.

The object of the New York governor's vendetta os Ogden Reid, whose Republican forebears go back to Abraham Lincoln's day. Indeed, his grandfather was a vice presidential candidate for the Grand Old Party. But eight months ago, Reid turned Democrat.

For him, the last straw had been President Nixon's sabotage of a $2 billion (B) day care bill that Reid had spent years preparing and pushing. His parting blast left Republicans stunned and vengeful.

Out for retribution, Rockefeller has freed two of his top young operatives from the state payroll and has assigned them to the anti- Reid campaign. They are William McDevitt, Rockefeller's own assistant, and Martin Kelly, who has served Rockefeller in the past on an important task force.

Even more significantly, Rockefeller has encouraged his old friend and political ally, Carl Spad, to labor against their one- time colleague. The sharp, fast talking Spad has quietly moved into a guest house at Rockefeller's feudal castle at Pocantico Hills where the two men are so close they can conspire against Reid over their bedroom window sills.

Rockefeller has already thrown open the 3,000- acre Pocantico estate for a thousand- dollar- a- couple party that raised $38,000 for the anti— Reid forces. Additional contributions from other Rockefeller loyalists have made the campaign of the best- financed in the land.

The governor has ponied up $6,000. His brother, Laurence, the philanthropist Rockefeller, has contributed $1,000. Rockefeller's heir apparent, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, has thrown in another $1,000. Similar donations have poured in from lesser Rockefeller machine assemblymen, state senators, county officials and party fat cats, all the the expense of the maverick Reid.

Almost as angry as Rockefeller is well- to- do contractor, J. Herbert Grimsey, who stepped aside 10 years ago to let Reid have the House GOP nomination. Now Grimsey has given $1,000 and loaned $39,500 to help unseat Reid.

--MAD "MA BELL"--

The congressman's battle for telephone users against New York telephone company's $361 million increase has also earned him the enmity of company officials. Ma Bell's New York president, W.M. Ellinghaus, and vice president William Sharwell, have each kicked in $500 to defeat him.

Likewise, Reid's successful effort to roll back a gigantic rent increase has brought in a flood of contributions against him from the New York real estate lobby.

Now, Rockefeller and the other anti— Reid forces have been able to enlist the top Republican of them all to help teach the renegade a lesson. President Nixon scheduled one of his rare campaign tours in Westchester county.

House GOP leader Gerald Ford, R— Mich., and conservative Sen. James Buckley, N.Y., have already made campaign utterances against Reid.

Running against Reid is Westchester County's District Attorney Carl Vergari. For a smalltown D.A., he has suddenly found himself with a surprising number of friends in high places.

--WASHINGTON WHIRL--

Bad Job-- Illegal employment agencies throughout the United States have been bilking job hunters by advertising jobs on the Alaskan pipeline. Several workers have turned up in Alaska after paying fees for jobs that don't exist on a pipeline that doesn't exist. Senator Ted Stevens, R— Alaska, has asked the Justice Department to investigate.

Lady from Idaho-- Mrs. James McClure, wife of the Idaho congressman, throws an unpublicized birthday party each year for mentally handicapped children from the Nampa State School. This year's party was October 5th.

Fake Poll-- Young Republicans have been mailing out a "Preference Poll," asking addressees whom they favor for president. The fakery is a bit obvious; included with it is a fund solicitation for the Nixon- Agnew ticket.

Pentagon Plums-- The Pentagon loudly proclaims the benefits of free enterprise biddong on its billions in defense contracts. But for the last six years, a majority of these plums have been awarded on a noncompetitive, sole source basis. In fact, last year, only 10 per cent of the Pentagon's $36 billion (B) shopping list was spent for defense contracts that were openly advertised to the business community.

U.S. -China Side Against Russia In UN Arms Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The annual U.N. arms debate opens today with about two thirds of the nations in favor of the world disarmament conference proposed by the Soviet Union but with the United States and China opposed.

Mexico, the Soviet Union and the United States were the first speakers. The debate in the General Assembly's main political committee is scheduled to last through Nov. 23, but the subject is so complicated some believe it might continue into December.

Both France and China in the past have resisted all efforts to involve them in the 10-year-old, 25-nation Geneva disarment committee.

Now France has agreed to participate in a preparatory committee for the world conference that the Soviet Union proposed a year ago. Its Aug. 25 reply in a U.N. poll on the subject suggested the committee consist of the 15 Security Council members, including the Big Five.

Though no reply from China has been published, Deputy foriegn Minister Chiao Kuanhua said in general debate Oct. 3 that a world disarmanet conference would be an "emptytalk club" and "it is better not to hold it."

However, some diplomats remained hopeful that China could be induced to join a preparatory committee for the conference. Others were doubtful.

The United States also is against setting up a preparatory committee. Its Aug. 30 reply in the poll said any action to arrange a world disarmament conference would raise false hopes and lead to frustration.

Bond, Phelps At Sikeston Armory Barbecue Saturday

Republican candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, State Auditor Kit Bond of Mexico and Rep. Bill Phelps of Kansas City, attended a Bootheel barbecue Saturday night at the Sikeston Armory. Approximately 900 supporters were on hand for the meal and speeches following.

Bond spoke about corruption in Missouri's state government. He cited examples where the Democratic administration has padded the payrolls with political "cronies."

In one instance, the state office building in Kansas City showed a payroll of more than $200,000 when an identical office building listed its payroll at slightly under $75,000. In an investigation by Attorney General John Danforth, it was found that some state employes held other jobs and did no work in the state office building.

The gubernatorial candidate attacked the "lug" system in state government where all employes must make campaign contributions to the party that hired them or lose their jobs.

Bond described the St. Louis Globe- Democrat's recent state poll as "very encouraging." According to the polls, Bond is running about three percentage points ahead of Democrat Edward Dowd.

Phelps stressed the need for a cooperative, full- time lieutenant governor for the next four years. He pledged his full- time effort to serving as lieutenant governor and promised to help put an end to political "crony-ism."

Former Sikeston Mayor Kendall Sikes introduced Alfred E. Sikes, his son who is Bond's campaign manager and was master of ceremonies.

The latter commented on the tremendous new enthusiasm that is being generated this year against the predominant one- party system in Missouri.

Before the barbecue, Bond met at Scott County Republican Headquarters, 117 E. Malone Ave., with area campaign coordinators and youth workers for his campaign.

Is someone in your house lost?

Many people are hard to find with a phone book because their numbers are shown under the names of other members of the family. And the search gets tougher if a person happens to have a popular last name like Smith, Brown or Jones. There's a quick cure for directory anonymity—an additional listing. For only a few cents a month, anyone can have his name in the phone book—son, daughter, granddad or mother-in-law. Call your telephone business office to find out how.

Mrs. Eric Small

Small-Garrett

WYATT — Miss Gloria Jean Garrett and Eric Theodore Small were united in marriage at 3 p.m. on Sept. 23 in the Wyatt United Methodist Church. The double- ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Floyd V. Brower.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Garrett of Sikeston Route Four, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. T. (Jack) Small of Wyatt.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Garrett wore an all- white, Juliet- style gown of crepe and chiffon with white trim around the cuffs, hem and neck. Her train-length veil was adorned with pink and red rosebuds. She carried an old fashioned compact bouquet with a cluster of red and pink roses and babies breath with white streamers. The gown was designed and made by the bride.

Mrs. Terry Bryant of Sikeston played the traditional wedding march for the ceremony.

Maid of honor was Miss Gail Elaine Garrett, sister of the bride.

Craig Thompson Small, brother of the groom, served as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

The groom is associated with Small's L. P. Gas Co. of Wyatt, where the couple will make its home.

The new Mrs. Small is a 1972 graduate of Sikeston High School. Small attended Kentucky Military Institute and Southeast Missouri State University.

Announcement was made that members would visit the Home for the Aged in Ironton Saturday.

Mrs. Helen Wolfe closed the meeting with prayer.

Fifteen members and five guests, Mrs. Theresa Blunt, Hubert Harris, Tip Clark, Dilmos Young and the Rev. Mr. Wolfe attended.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 16 with Mrs. Annie Beeson.

Inaugural Medals

Issuing of official inaugural medals to commemorate U.S. presidents apparently derived from identification badges used by members of inaugural committees. The badges became larger and more decorative, evolved into commemorative inaugural medals and these are now treasured by collectors throughout the world.

Ann Landers

Trick or Treating Is No Longer Safe

Dear Ann Landers: My hat is off to you for having the courage to speak out on subjects that most people would just as soon duck. I refer to your column on "funny uncles."

I didn't have a "funny uncle" but I had a step- father who took indecent liberties with me for about four years, starting when I was six. I didn't know what it was all about until I reached my tenth birthday and was put wise by a playmate who was a couple of years older that I was. Her step- father was "funny" with her and she wrote to you about it. You told her to tell him if he came near her again she would go immediately to her mother and ruin him. She took your advice and he never bothered her after that.

I decided to do the same with my step- father although I was scared to death he might give me a beating. Well, Ann, that was the last time he tried to act funny with me. Although this happened eight years ago I think of it nearly every day and I remember you in prayers every night. Please forgive me for not writing to say thanks-- until now.--- One You Saved

Dear One: No apologies are necessary. Your letter gives me another opportunity to tell all my young readers that if a relative, friend or neighbor gets "funny" they should not be afraid to say, "If you come near me again I'll tell my Mom and Dad." Then do it if the warning isn't enough.

Dear Ann Landers: If you print this letter a few days before Haloween, it could save some young lives.

This year my children have invited a few friends in. They will play games and we have prizes for the best costume and the funniest pumpkin. We will not allow the children to go

What a shameful thing that youngsters can no longer safely accept Halloween treats offered by kind neighbors who for many years prepared sacks of goodies, baked cookies and candy for this traditional holiday. But that's the way it is.

We often speak of how the world has changed. The fact that I am writing illustrates one of the most dramatic changes in our society. A person has to be sick to put razor blades, LSD or arsenic in Halloween candy or caramel apples and give them to innocent children who are out for a night of fun.

home are a splendid idea. Parents who allow their youngsters to go from door to door should instruct them to go ONLY to those neighbors whom they know personally and to accept nothing from strangers.

Dear Ann: Help! Hurry! What is wrong with a woman who has been married six years, has a wonderful husband and two adorable children and feels herself attracted to another man? I didn't want trick or treating because it is no longer safe. I hope you will warn other parents who have not yet caught up with the fact that 1972 isn't 1952, or even '62.--- Sad Realist

Dear Realist: Here's your letter and my thanks for having written it. I second the motion. Small Halloween parties at this to happen but it seems beyond my control. My husband knows nothing about it and I must get myself straightened around before he suspects something.

Am I crazy? Can the Solution be found in self-discipline?--- Saturn

Dear Sat: You aren't crazy. Just human. Self- discipline, plus keeping your distance can be immensely helpful. I recommend both.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage-- What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Regional FHA Hears Westbrook

KENNETT — John Westbrook was guest speaker at the annual meeting of Region 7, Future Homemakers of America, at Kennett High School. Approximately 719 members, advisors and mothers attended.

The meeting was called to order by Debra Baxter, of Caruthersville, president. After presentation of the regional officers, Carla Woodard proceeded with the roll call. She was assisted by secretaries of each chapter in the region.

Westbrook then expressed his ideas on the joys and utter mysteries of life, after which the Portageville chapter presented a skit.

Members divided themselves into small groups for "DIG" sessions — for Discovery, Involvement and Growth — part of the national program of work.

Several filmstrips were shown on aging to bring out the theme that FHA is for older Missourians.

Hold Bluff Trio On Several Charges

POPLAR BLUFF — Police are holding two young men and a juvenile, all from Poplar Bluff, on an assortment of charges that includes suspicion of possession of drugs following a series of incidents that led to their arrests early Saturday.

Charged with peace disturbance and public intoxication is Ronald W. Robinson, who was the first of the trio to be arrested. Later in the morning, officers arrested Wesley A. Brown and a 16-year-old boy, whose name was not released, for investigation of possession of drugs.

Officers said they received a complaint over the telephone at 12:15 a.m. Saturday from a person who alleged that Robinson was causing a disturbance at Broadway and North Kingshighway. He was arrested and charged. The complaint stated that Robinson was carrying a gun, but police said he had no weapon in his possession when he was arrested.

The complainant later told police that the gun had been placed into a car operated by a man named "Porter," officers related.

At 3:15 a.m., Sgt. Eugene Huttegger, the police dispatcher on duty received a telephone call from a man who identified himself only as "Porter."

Police said the caller was requesting information about Robinson's arrest and was told to come to police headquarters.

When the caller arrived, he was identified as Wesley A. Brown. Officers said they found a straight-blade razor in Brown's pant pocket and he was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

A later check of the car Brown had driven to the station turned up a smoking pipe containing marijuana sediment and five pills believed to be illegally possessed. Police said they found no gun in the car. The juvenile accompanied Brown to the station.

Cohen Plans Appeal Of Tax Evasion

KENNETT— Insurance consultant David. C. Cohen is appealing a sentence dealt out in the U.S. Federal District Court in St. Louis, on a conviction of income tax evasion.

Cohen's attorneys have 10 days to file the appeal in the U.S. Court of Appeals, Eighth District.

If the higher court affirms the conviction on three counts of a four- count indictment, Cohen will begin serving a four year prison sentence in federal prison.

Judge James Meredith sentenced Cohen to four years in prison on one count, three years in prison on a second count and ordered him placed on probation for five years on a third count, the probation to commence on his release from imprisonment of the four- year term.

A news release issued to the news media Tuesday by the Internal Revenue Service's District Office in St. Louis said the probation would commence on the date "Cohen begins serving his prison sentence." Today, the IRS office said the information was in error, and the five years probation on count three would begin after he was released from prison.

Cohen's conviction came for attempted evasion of his income tax for the year 1965. Previously he was found guilty in a jury trial of three or four counts of income tax charges brought by the IRS office. Earlier, he had pleaded not guilty to the charges.

The jury acquitted Cohen on one of the four counts.

Until a decision is made on the appeal, which could take from six to eight months, Cohen remains free on his own recognizance.

Poll Places Bond In Narrow Lead Over Dowd

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Republican gubernatorial nominee Christopher S. "Kit" Bond holds a narrow lead over his opponent, Democrat Edward L. Dowd, according to a poll of seven south-central Miss uri counties by the St. Louis GlobeDemocrat and Kansas City Star.

The results, published in today's editions, say Bond had a 6.2 per cent lead in the following counties surveyed: Dent, Howell, Iron, Pulaski, Ripley, Shannon and Texas.

Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth was the only other Republican among other top office seekers who had a lead, the poll indicated.

The same poll said President Nixon held a lead of 32.5 per cent over George McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate.

The Globe-Democrat said the poll was conducted among 240 voters, or one-half of one per cent of the eligible voters in the counties. The paper said the poll consisted of person-to-person interviews but other information was not announced.

Cancel Air Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alerts of air transport units at various Air Force bases around the country have been canceled and the Pentagon is trying to dampen speculation the alerts were connected with a possible evacuation of U.S. prisoners from North Vietnam.

"The Department of Defense knows of no imminent release of prisoners of war and we have taken no unusual action in this connection," said a Pentagon spokesman Sunday.

Alerts were reported Saturday by sources at McGuire AFB in New Jersey, Travis AFB in California, Dover AFB in Delaware, McChord AFB near Tacoma, Wash., and Charleston AFB in South Carolina.

A source at McGuire said technical crews had worked all night Friday preparing planes for medical evacuation. But the alert was lifted Sunday afternoon, about 32 hours after it went into effect, and all units were ordered to resume normal operations, the source said.

The reason for the alert was not explained.

UNDERCLASSMEN were singled out as the outstanding players during Friday night's 35-6 loss to Cape Girardeau Central. Juniors John Farris and Roy Bowman joined sophomore Craig Vogel as the week's Bulldog Stars. Farris was singled out on offense for his pass catching, while Bowman was the standout defensive stalwart and Vogel was tagged with the hitter of the week honor. The Bulldogs travel to Jackson for their final road trip of the season Friday night before returning home to wind up the season with Poplar Bluff and Union City, Tenn.

CINCINNATI — Consecutive sixth-inning doubles by Gene Tenace and Sal Bando drove in two runs to lead the Oakland Athletics to a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the seventh and deciding game of the 1972 World Series.

A's-- World Champions

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Oakland A's—World Champions.

"It has a nice ring to it," said Dick Williams.

"The trophy belongs right here," the Oakland manager added while squeezing the gold bauble symbolic of a World Series winner.

The trophy belonged to the A's because of good relief pitching and clutch hitting—the combination that helped win four of the seven baseball games, including Sunday's 3-2 thriller.

Rollie Fingers came through with the pitching again and Gene Tenace delivered another clutch hit as the A's defeated the Reds in the final showdown.

"It's a beautiful thing," said Williams, pointing to the trophy in the champagne-drenched A's clubhouse.

Williams understandably was emotional about his new-found status in the baseball world. He had led the Boston Red Sox to a pennant in 1967, but lost the World Series to the St. Louis Cardinals. Two years later, he was fired.

He was able to take this trophy home to Oakland even though the A's weren't given much of a chance to win it.

From the start, they were torn with dissension and labeled a patsy for the powerful National League champion Reds.

Pitcher Vida Blue and first baseman Mike Epstein were the most notable of the players disatisfied with their roles in the series. Blue verbally blasted his manager and owner Charles O. Finley because he wanted to be a starter, not a relief pitcher. Epstein had a shouting match with Williams after he was taken out of a game early for defensive purposes.

Williams, accused of overmanaging, moved his men around as if he were playing chess. And, for the most part, he made the right moves.

Some questioned Williams' logic in using Tenace in the lineup in place of Dave Duncan, a catcher who had hit 19 home runs during the season. But Tenace, who only hit five out of the park this year, made his manager look like a genius when he hit two home runs in the first game for all the runs as the A's took a 3-2 decision. Blue, after sounding off the day before, came in to save the game for starter Ken Holtzman.

In the second game at Cincinnati, Fingers gave Jim "Catfish" Hunter ninth-inning help and Joe Rudi hit a home run and made an outstanding catch against the left field wall to preserve a 2-1 Oakland triumph.

The beleaguered Reds were treated with disdain in Oakland. At the A's ballpark, fans showered left fielder Pete Rose with eggs and oranges. At Oakland City Hall, a sign read:

"Where's Cincinnati?"

The Oakland partisans found out soon enough. Or at least, they found out who Jack Billingham was. The journeyman pitcher, with only a .500 lifetime record in the majors, allowed but three hits and no runs in eight innings and won his first World Series game 1-0 over the A's. Clay Carroll, the Reds' best relief pitcher, saved the game for him.

After rain postponed the fourth game one day at Oakland, the A's took a 3-1 lead in the Series by beating the Reds 3-2 with a dramatic, two-run rally in the ninth inning. Williams could do no wrong with his replacements and the result was three singles by pinch-hitters, including Angel Mangual's game-winning blow. Tenace hit his third home run of the Series as well.

Rose held in check the first four games, got back at the Oakland pitchers with two runs batted in—a first-pitch homer in the first inning and a gamewinning single in the ninth—as the Reds won the fifth game 5-4 and sent the Series back to Cincinnati. Tenace hit his fourth home run in that game to tie a Series record shared by four others, including Babe Ruth.

Cincinnati pounded the ball in the sixth game. The Reds scored five runs in the seventh inning as Bobby Tolan and Cesar Geronimo delivered two-run singles enroute to an 8-1 victory.

Finley, the eccentric Oakland owner, sat sourly near the A's dugout and took abuse from the Cincinnati fans at Riverfront Stadium.

His day came Sunday, however, when Tenace and Sal Bando drilled run-scoring doubles in the sixth inning and Fingers came on in the eighth to get the A's out of trouble in the deciding game.

Finley, one of baseball's controversial owners, also was one of the most emotional after the final-game victory.

Bedecked in a rich green jacket and gold pants, the owner elbowed his way through the A's crowded dressing room and spilled champagne on everyone within range.

He also kissed Williams on the cheek.

"Neither club is better than the other," said Williams.

Praise came easy from a man who had achieved his goal.

Mizzou Scores Upset

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The only thing Notre Dame won was the coin toss; but that's not good enough - even for a team that's ranked No. 8, unbeaten in four games and playing a team that lost 62-0 the week before.

Well, Notre Dame's Fighting Irish sloshed onto their home field Saturday, took the opening kickoff, went 17 yards in three plays, then turned the ball over to Missouri on the first of seven Irish errors.

An Missouri, humiliated by Nebraska a week earlier, took advantage of every miscue and came away with a stunning 30-26 upset.

Under a constant drizzle, with temperatures in the 40s, the unranked Tigers riddled a Notre Dame defense which had given up just 30 points in its first four games.

In the first half, Missouri scored every time it had the ball, with all three touchdowns coming on fourth-down plays.

And in the second half, Notre Dame fumbles led to two of Greg Hill's three field goals for the Tigers.

"I have no explanation as to why we fumbled so much - the ball was just as wet for both sides," Irish Coach Ara Parseghian said.

"It was obvious that Missouri was very well prepared," he said. "In addition, they executed almost perfectly. Except for several delay penalties near the end of the game they didn't have a single call against them. That proves how well they executed."

Missouri Coach Al Onofrior, whose Tigers evened their record at 3-3, said it was "a tremendous victory for us, our biggest since I've been a coach at Missouri."

He added, "In the fourth quarter, with the score 30-14, we went to a softer defense, trying to prevent the big play. When you play Notre Dame, you have to be aggressive, and play the percentages. This accounted for our attempts in trying to convert fourth-down situations."

The Irish scored twice in the last quarter, on a 13-yard run by quarterback Tom Clements and a 12-yard scamper by Andy Huff.

Missouri's Don Johnson scored two touchdowns and Leroy Moss added a 16-yard score.

Clements led all rushers with 94 yards in 13 carries and completed seven of 17 passes for 108 yards.

Nader Reports On Legislators

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Here are excerpts from the "Ralph Nader Congress Project" profiles on U.S. senators and representatives from Missouri, except those who are retiring this year:

Sen. Stuart Symington: The veteran Democrat is a "changed man" according to Nader's report, going from "Suparhawk" in the early 1960's to become one of the leading critics of U.S. foreign policies and the military establishment.

Symington carries on a lovehate relationship with the major military contractor in Missouri, McDonnell-Douglas Corp., based in St. Louis, the report said. Symington's major concern is jobs for his constituents and he is not always happy with the firm's performance in this area, it said. Symington, 71, wants McDonnell to subcontract more of its work in Missouri, the report said.

When the senator decided to seek a fourth term in 1970, there was talk that he was primarily interested in maintaining his political strength as a legacy for his son Rep. James Symington, the report said. Both of them denied the implication.

SEN. THOMAS EAGLETON: The man, who stepped down as the Democratic vice presidential nominee Aug. 1 is described as an outspoken Vietnam War critic, who is also keenly aware of the problems in his home state.

On key economic issues that have arisen during his time in the Senate, Eagleton has supported a reduction in the oil depletion allowance, stricter depreciation rules and lower tax credits, the report said.

REP. RICHARD ICHORD: The 8th District Democratic Congressman's activities as chairman of the House Internal Security Committee are given exhaustive study in the Nader report. The various antiwar groups that have dominated the committee's attention for nearly two years have often been linked, in Ichord's estimation, with the international Communist movement, the report said.

Although his chairmanship of the committee takes up much of his time, Ichord has been fairly active in trying to bring federal benefits back to his district, the report said.

REP. JAMES SYMINGTON: As one of two father and son teams on Capitol Hill (the other is Sen. Barry Goldwater, RAriz., and his son, Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr., R-Colo..) Symington does not believe his political fortune is a case of nepotism, the report said, "In Congress I am not about to let myself become labeled as Stuart Symington's Little Sir Echo," the report quoted the congressman as saying. But in matters of foreign policy, he does consult his father, the report said.

The 2nd District Democratic congressman is anything but a "hawk" on the Vietnam War, it went on to say. On the other hand, he has voted consistently against general defense budget cuts, certain to affect McDonnell-Douglas and other defense contractors in his district, the report said.

REP. LEONOR SULLIVAN: Her job representing the 3rd Missouri District is Leonor Sullivan's all-consuming job, Nader's Congress report said.

If Democrats keep their majority in the House in January, Mrs. Sullivan will become the chairwoman of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. In her 1970 campaign, her two largest single contributions came from the Seafarers Political Activity Committee and the Marine Engineer Beneficia organization, both labor groups, the report said. If she becomes chairwoman she sees no reason to change her policy of accepting these contributions, the report said, adding that her only guideline for accepting contributions is that she never solicits donations.

REP. BILL BURLISON: The Democratic congressman from the state's 10th District is hard to place squarely in either the northern or southern political patterns. Burlison is a hardliner on crime and votes with Southern Democrats 50 per cent of the time, the report said.

Nevertheless, the liberal special interest group, Americans for Democratic Action, gives him a 49 per cent rating for his votes on selected issues, the report said.

The report said Burlison is the beneficiary of "a restless peace" between the northern and southern reaches of his district. "The two political horses Burlison is now straddling at home in Missouri may well part company and dart off in opposite directions." The report said Burlison's future rests "on his ability to shape effective means of revitalizing the uneasy coalition between the Bootheel and Jefferson County and between Cape Girardeau and the Big Springs region..."

Rep. Richard Bolling: Nader's congressional report calls Richard Bolling a "national politician from Kansas City" who is in love with the House of Representatives.

The author of two political books, Bolling has been near the center of power for most of his 23 years as a House member, the report said. The 5th District Democrat believes that an unsophisticated electorate forces bad policy decisions on the government, the report stated.

"The American people started the Cold War by squawking about bringing the boys home," the report quotes him as saying.

Congress foolishly complied with the popular desire by voting rapid World War II demilitarization, and the Soviet Union responded with a belligerent expansionist policy, the report quoted Bolling.

In 1972 Bolling believes that government officials should ignore popular discontent with Vietnam, and do what must be done to preserve order in the world, the report said.

REP. WILLIAM J. RANDALL: The Jackson County Democrat, who represents Harry Truman and 527,989 other persons in Missouri's 4th District, has taken a hard line stand on the war in Southeast Asis, the Nader report said.

He has long been in favor of strong military action in Vietnam, and the American Security Council gave him a score of 100 on his floor votes for 196970.

Key votes show that Randall does not hesitate to allot funds for defense projects and military development, the report said. In the area of justice, Randall has voted for the "noknock" bill and allocation of funds to the Subversive Activities Control Board for a secret blacklist, it said. He has denied funds for integration and is a foe of school busing, it said.

In the 1972 race, Randall will be relying on his reputation and his record of achievements, the report said. In the past he has promised the people an "extra measure of service", the report said. The general opinion among the organizations that support him is that he has given it, the report said.

REP. WILLIAM CLAY: The St. Louis Democratic Congressman, who served a prison term following his conviction in 1962 for protesting alleged unfair hiring practices at a St. Louis bank, has continued to fight for civil rights, the report said.

Clay, who was elected to represent the 1st District in 1968, has repeatedly fought to improve the physical, economic and social environment of his district, which is about half black, the report stated. A sampling of community groups and leaders indicated that has strong support among labor and civil rights groups, the report said, but the black congressman has little support from the business community, it said.

"Clay has one of the worst attendance records for floor votes in the House. In 1971, he was absent for 45 per cent of the votes, while the average Democratic member of Congress was absent for only 12 per cent, the report said.

KENNETT— Public assistance payments in Dunklin County totaled $352,483 in September, according to Troy E. Pogue, County Welfare Director.

Hannibal Man Goes 6,000 Miles To Work

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — Most people in this Mississippi River town can drive from their home to work in 10 minutes or less, but one resident may be the world champion commuter.

Charles K. Mudd doesn't make the trip every day, but when he does, he figures it's a 6,000-mile trip to his job as maintenance shop supervisor for the Oasis Oil Co., in Libya.

When Mudd and his family lived in Tripoli, Libya, he worked two full weeks in the company's desert base at Waha and then had one week off the job. Now that Mudd has moved his family to his old hometown, he works six weeks in the desert and takes three weeks off.

Mudd said he moved his family to Hannibal last year to enhance the education of his three children. They had lived in Libya for more than eight years.

"In 1970, the prime minister of Libya ordered native children should attend the company school," Mudd said. "We decided our children's education would suffer, so we returned to the States."

Mudd says his commuting costs are high, but under the circumstances "it's worth it." He flies commercially to Tripoli and then takes a company plane to his base at Waha, 700 miles away.

A spokesman for TWA said a round-trip, first-class flight from St. Louis to Tripoli costs $1,242.

Life at the desert camp, Mudd says, "is not too bad, just not very exciting." The camp provides a variety of recreational facilities for the men, but families are not permitted there except at Christmas because of the lack of schools and shopping facilities.

Mudd said the favorite activity at the camp is going into the desert at night.

"Almost all of us go out in the evening and look for fossils, petrified wood, arrow heads or World War II relics. It doesn't get dark until 10 p.m., so going into the desert is really the biggest form of recreation," he said.

As a result, Mudd has an extensive collection of fossils he found in the desert, including a petrified elephant's head.

Mudd's wife, Etta, says she has learned to adjust to her husband's unusual working situation.

"It is not too hard of an adjustment," she said. "I don't like separations, but with Kenny home during the day I find we have a much better environment. We can do things together, and when we have a quarrel, we can solve it without the children underfoot."

Mudd sees at least one advantage to the arrangement, too. "When I get home, Etta is so glad to see me she doesn't mind putting up with me around the house," he said.

St. Louis Groups Will Honor Veterans' Day In November

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Some veterans groups here decided to ignore Veterans' Day today, preferring instead to celebrate it on Nov. 11.

"There's no significance to it," said Joseph L. Gaal, 11th District American Legion commander. "Nov. 11 was the original Armistice Day. It means nothing to us. Maybe Congress will decide to change it back to the original date."

What's The Law

The Case Of The Determined Mother

While mothers may be necessary, they were hard to find in Mr. Pincus's factory. The reason? He doggedly refused to hire women with preschool children at home. Consequently, when Betty, who has preschool children at home, applied for a position as a trainee on one of his assembly lines, she stood about as much chance as Adam had when Eve presented him with the apple. A determined woman, however, Betty fought for the job in court when Mr. Pincus turned her down.

"If I know any of my rights," she told the judge, "I know my civil rights. An employer can't discrinimate against women in dishing out employment. And since Mr. Pincus hires men with preschool children at home, he's bound to hire women in the same situation. Otherwise it's discrimination."

"Nonsense," responded Mr. Pincus. "I like women. They're the last people in the world that I'd discriminate against. In fact, they constitute a very high percentage of my employees. Mothers, however, are a different story. The civil rights law talks about men and women, but not about mothers."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you find that Mr. Pincus was guilty of discrimination in not hiring Betty?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that Mr. Pincus' practices did not discriminate against women as a whole. It is not discrimination based upon sex, as contemplated by the Civil Rights Act, noted the judge, for an employer to hire men with preschool children at home while refusing to do so in the case of women.

Kennett Man Dies In Home Gun Accident

KENNETT — Clois Willard (Bill) Jones, 41, was killed Friday morning when a gun he was handling accidentally discharged, striking him in the left side of the chest.

His body was discovered by his wife at noon when she returned to their home at 1112 Elm Dr.

Kennett City Police, Highway Patrolmen Jim Pemberton and Jack Crawford, Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott and Dunklin County Coroner Tom Doherty investigated.

The officers said Mrs. Jones related she last saw her husband at 7:40 a.m. Friday as she was leaving for work. She returned at noon, found his truck in the driveway and went to the workshop where she found the body.

He was killed by a deer slug fired from a J. C. Higgins 12-gauge shotgun.

"The worst fault of a motorist is his belief that he has none."

The Prayer from the Upper Room

Jesus said to his disciples, "If anyone wants to go with me, he must disregard himself and take his cross and follow me." (Matthew 16:24, Goodspeed translation)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we come to Thee to confess our sins, even the one of neglecting the symbol of our faith. May we look back to the two crossed lines, disregard ourselves, and follow Thee in service to our fellowmen. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

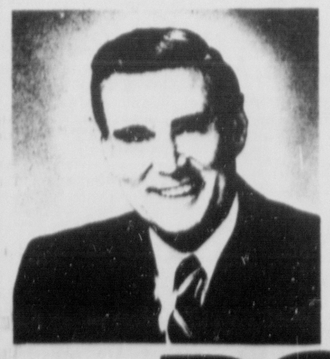
How Do YOU Feel About
Diverting Highway Funds?

"We have a need for mass transit systems, but unlike my opponent, I do not believe Highway funds should be diverted." That's how Ed Dowd feels about diverting highway funds for mass transit! He also says, "Missouri's highways are the best in the nation . . . but they would be destroyed by taking away their funds . . . other sources must be found." If that's the way you feel about diverting highway funds for mass transit, then Ed Dowd's your man for Missouri's Governor.



Sure, the people of Missouri want a change. But we all know a change for change's sake isn't the answer. The real answer lies with a mature man of Ed Dowd's unquestioned good character. The son and grandson of policemen . . . a father who understands . . . a man who didn't inherit a thing except an honest respect for the working man, a compassion for those less fortunate and a sincere willingness to help. We can trust Ed Dowd to do the right thing for all the people. Be sure November 7. Vote for Ed Dowd, Democrat for Governor.

Paid for by Scott County Committee for Dowd, C.L. Blanton III, Chairman.

Globe Reports Bond Worth Under Million

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported Sunday that financial holdings of Christopher S. "Kit" Bond, Republican candidate for governor, were slightly less than $1 million.

Bond reported earlier this year what his investments included but declined to give the net amount. He has been criticized by his Democratic opponent Edward L. Dowd, for not making the full disclosure. Dowd listed net assets of $108,000.

The Post said in its Sunday edition that Bond acknowledged he was worth "about $1 million—I think slightly less, I really haven't figured it all up."

The 33-year-old state auditor is the grandson of the late A. P. Green, who founded a large firebrick company in Mexico, Mo.

Dowd had said voters should know how much money Bond owned in municipal bonds and other interests that the state might do business with. The Post said Bond's municipal bonds were worth about $50,000. His earlier statement said he owned bonds from Florissant, Mo., the Rockwood School District in St. Louis County, Jackson County, Columbia, Mo., and Audrain County.

Most of Bond's stocks are in U.S. Gypsum Co., the paper said. He also has stock in Masschusetts Groth Mutual Fund, Crum and Forster, Inc., Suburban Propane Gas Corp., International Business Machines Corp., and the Washington Post Co.

Dowd Pledges Changes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Edward L. Dowd, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, promised Sunday to strengthen Missouri's Public Service Commission to protect consumers against public utilities.

Dowd said: "If the utility does not get what it wants the first time around, it just comes back three months later and asks for another increase," Dowd said.

In remarks prepared for a meeting at the Machinists Union hall here, Dowd said the PSC is not staffed well enough to keep a close check on the big utilities, which he said wield great monopolistic power.

He said the utilities are arrogant in that they advertise in the public media in support of their rate increases and the consumer winds up paying for the advertising.

"We have to give the Public Service Commission the tools to stand up to the utilities," Dowd said. He pledged, if elected, to appoint capable reprssentatives of the people to the PSC and also to back legislation to make the utilities pay more for the support of the commission.

Power Company Scaring Fish By Rock Music

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Electric Co. says it's going to attempt to scare gizzard shad from waters near its facilities by broadcasting rock music on underwater loudspeakers.

The utility says the one-foot long fish die from a lack of oxygen when they are drawn by heated water from the firm's water discharge pipes in the East and West Slip Bay waters of Lake Erie.

The utility says its using rock and other contemporary music because scientists have advised that fish can become accustomed to less jarring music.

Morsell said. Looking back, he added, people shouldn't feel so complacent.

Danger signals are flying because of inadequacies in education and job opportunities among blacks, Morsell said.

He said two- thirds of all black workers are unskilled. Nationally, the unemployment rate among blacks is double that of whites, and in some places, it is 10 to 20 times that of whites, he said.

Of all black males between the ages of 18 and 25, Morsell added, figures show that 50 per cent have never had a job and will never enter the labor market.

The median income of blacks has doubled in the past 10 years from $3,000 to over $6,000, he said, but it has actually fallen farther behind the white median income.

Seventy- four per cent of all new jobs are located in the suburbs instead of the cities, Morsell said, but the vast majority of blacks live in the cities and not the suburbs.

The Nixon administration will not use the power of the federal government to encourage the movement of nonwhites to the suburbs, he charged.

Morsell said President Nixon is using busing as a code word for race in an attempt to strike fear into the hearts of the American people.

"We can no longer look with maximum hope to the national level for the aid we need," Morsell said. "We no longer have a friend in the White House."

He said the NAACP will work in the future with state legislators, mayors and councilment to achieve progress.

Certificates of merit were awarded to the Charleston and Haywood City branches of NAACP for surpassing their goals in new memberships and donations to the Freedom Fund.

Kennett Youth Held For Shooting Death

KENNETT — Richard Edward Noble, 18, Route Two, is being held in the Dunklin County Jail in connection with the shooting death Saturday of James Jefferson Mitchell, 19, Caruth, according to Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott.

Sheriff Scott said Mitchell was shot once in the left chest with a 22- caliber revolver following an argument with Nobel at the latter's home early Saturday.

According to Sheriff Scott, Mitchell had been out on a date with Nobel's sister Patricia and had brought her home in a taxi around 12:05 a.m. Saturday. Scott said Mitchell and the girl remained in the cab in the yard of the Noble home which is located on a gravel road just off Route A.

The girl's mother then called for her to come in but according to the sheriff, she remained in the cab. At this time, her brother Richard reportedly came outside and "got into it with Mitchel" and Mitchell was fatally shot in the left chest."

The taxi driver then rushed Mitchell to the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival at 12:45 a.m.

Nobel's mother called Sheriff Scott to the scene where he was assisted in the investigation by Kennett police and Dunklin County Coroner Tom Doherty.

new faces! new ideas!
new determination to build a better Missouri!

It's what's behind the faces of our Democratic candidates that makes the differences.

Differences in experience and maturity. Differences in achievements and service to the people of Missouri. Vital differences to every Missourian in responsible and responsive government.

There's another difference we think you'll consider important. The forward-looking programs of our Missouri Democratic candidates are aimed squarely at solving the everyday problems of people. Problems of education, jobs, health care, taxes, and crime. And the needs of the elderly, the handicapped, and all victims of inflation.

But that's what you'd expect of leaders representing the party of Truman, Hennings, Symington and Eagleton, isn't it?
